CITY COUNCIL FACING ANOTHER TANGLE!

APPEAL CASE TO HIGHEST COURT, IS REPORT

District Supreme Justice Rejects Plea Made By Pacific Mail Line

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The injunction sought by the Pacific Mail to stop the sale of the five big president type liners to the Dollar line was refused today by Justice Hitz, in district supreme court.

The decision means that, so far as the district supreme court is concerned, the sale of the ships to the Dollar interests stands.

Counsel for the Pacific Mail, however, announced before leaving the chambers that an appeal would be taken to the court of appeals and it was intimated that if unsuccessful there they are prepared to carry it to the supreme court of the United States itself.

Order Continued

By mutual agreement between the opposing counsel and the court, however, it was stpulated that the restraining order which was obtained by the Pacific Mail Co. two weeks ago, holding up the transfer of the vessels to the Dollar line, would be continued until Wednesday to give the Mail's attorneys time to prepare their appeal.

This agreement was proposed by counsel for the Pacific Mail who pointed out that unless the court further restrained the shipping board, the ships might be sold and the deal consummated before an appeal could be taken. Counsel for the shipping board and the Dollar lines immediately protested that they had no such intention, and an agreement on the two days' grace was readily reached at Justice Hitz' suggestion.

Shake-Up In Shipping Board To Result, Claim

WASHINGTON, April 20.—With a radical shakeup in the United States shipping board impending, whichever way the court fight ends, a legal battle was begun here today in district supreme court over the sale of the five big president type liners to the Dollar Steamship Co. interests. Backed by three of the board's seven members, the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. went before Justice McCoy to show cause why the sale of the vessels to the Dollar line should be permanently rejected.

The Pacific Mail, unsuccessful bidder for the vessels, now has a restraining order, and today's legal fight is to determine whether it shall be made lasting.

The shipping board at the outset this morning moved to dismiss

MOTHER MURDERS CHILDREN IN BED

Parent Hacks Son, Daughter To Death, Attempts Suicide After

ASHLAND, Ky., April 20.—Mrs. John E. Sloan, 52, today hacked her son, Jack, 18, and daughter, Margaret, 16, to death with a hatchet as they lay asleep and then attempted to end her own life with gas in the bathroom of her home here.

Temporary mental derangement, caused by beatings said to have been administered by the son, a mental defective, is believed responsible for the crime. Mrs. Sloan, it is said, will recover.

Four Motorists Drown When Auto Overturns

MINNEAPOLIS, April 20.—Four persons were drowned near here today when an automobile, backing up on a soft country road to recover a lost tire, slipped off into a hole and overturned. The dead: Charles R. Zibert, Arthur Moran, Joseph Walsh and Herman Shadler, all of St. Paul.

Supreme Court 'Hard Boiled' In Dry Cases

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The "hard boiled" attitude of the United States supreme court toward liquor law violators was manifested today in an unusual number of cases involving appeals from convictions under the prohibition law.

In every decision handed down today, the court upheld convictions in lower courts and again reaffirmed its decision that automobiles may be searched and liquor confiscated without the presence of a search warrant.

A case from Gary, Ind., had been appealed on the grounds that inflammatory newspaper articles had created inimical public sentiment against the defendants.

In two cases, the supreme court today upheld the conviction and punishment of manufacturing establishments, the Guggenheimer Distilling Co., of Pittsburgh, and the Keystone Brewing Co. of Lackawanna county, Pennsylvania.

SOLONS ENTER FINAL WEEK OF WORK

Two Major Issues Awaiting Decision Of Lawmakers In Sacramento

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.
Special to the Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, April 20.—With two major problems left to the Assembly for final settlement—the gas tax increase and reapportionment—the California Legislature's 1925 session is drawing to a close this year after a more or less peaceable, profitable and economical three months' work.

Tomorrow the Breed highway bills will be a special business in the lower house. Wednesday should see the gasoline tax on calendar, if it comes out of committee, and Thursday reapportionment should be voted upon.

The Senate has any number of minor Assembly bills to act upon during the five days remaining, most important of which is a $5,000,000 appropriation for new highways. It is going to be a fast and furious finish with not less than sixteen hours' work a day for the solons.

Files Kept Clean

Speaker Frank F. Merriam has nothing but words of praise for the performance of the assemblymen this year, there having been but little friction and by close attention they have kept their files cleaned each day. With Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young at the bedside of his mother, who is reported dying, the Senate has been guiding itself with a little confusion, perhaps, but President pro tem Arthur Breed, stormy petrel of the session, has carried on under a tremendous strain, and everything is going to work out all right some time early Saturday morning of this week, when the two houses, the lobbyists and the newspaper men will leave for home, satisfied with results.

Governor Richardson has continued his policy of vetoing useless or protested legislation. He is inviting criticism of any bills before him and the various executive departments are working to the end of keeping the political, penal and civil codes as simple as possible.

Measures Desired

The legal profession is quite anxious about its self-governing bar bill, the realtors want the governor's signature on their research and statistical measure, the doctors have a modest program, a score of insurance bills are before the executive and the dairymen hope that the 2-cent tax on each pound of oleo is approved.

Oil companies are ready to referendum the new 1-cent gas tax, their representatives declare, and that will be one of several matters put up to the voters in November, 1926, for action, several constitutional amendments already having been adopted.

FROST DANGERS

PORTLAND, Ore., April 20.—Warnings of frost and flood danger were sent out today by the district weather office here.

MILLIONS LOSS AND 2 DEAD RESULT OF TORNADO

Storm Hits Five States, Causing Heavy Damage To Property Interests

PEORIA, Ill., April 20.—Two dead and property damage estimated at $1,000,000—this was the toll today of the miniature tornado which swept over this district yesterday as an accompaniment of a terrific rain and electrical storm.

Fire, following in the wake of the storm, destroyed the five-story building occupied by the Isaac Walker Hardware Co. and partially demolished the Joseph Miller Lumber Co.

The dead: George Wonder and Frank Z. Weipel—were buried in the wreckage of the Walker building.

The storm whirled out of Iowa, surged across the Mississippi river and then passed east into Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Scores Injured In Storm Million Property Loss

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 20.—With property damage approximating $1,000,000, scores injured and many narrow escapes from death reported, the Pittsburgh district today counted large losses from the near tornado which swept over western Pennsylvania Sunday afternoon.

The storm was accompanied by one of the strongest winds in this section for years. It tore roofs from houses, blew out windows and paralyzed transportation and communication facilities.

Part of the Fayette county courthouse roof was blown off at Uniontown. One house was moved from its foundation at Irwin, Pennsylvania.

PORTUGAL FACES REBEL ACTIVITIES

Leaders Arrested, Death List Uncertain, Labor Force Makes Protest

LONDON, April 20.—Commander Filomeno and Colonel Reul E. Stevens, leaders of the unsuccessful attempt at rebellion in Lisbon have been arrested aboard a warship and two other officers have been imprisoned according to Central News despatches from Portugal today. The general labor confederation, supporting the government has proclaimed general strikes in protest against the attempt to create a military dictatorship.

Death List Uncertain

According to despatches today the situation was restored to normal only after 1500 arrests had been made.

The number of dead and injured was not known. With the exception of a part of the afternoon, when the federal troops opened fire on the rebel camp, the life of the city was not interrupted by the revolutionary attempt.

COURT RULING ON PERMITS IS DEFENSE VICTORY

Senator Favored As Judge Bars Certain Evidence In Fraud Trial

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 20.—The defense in the trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, on charge of misuse of office scored an important victory today in the ruling handed down by Federal Judge Frank S. Dietrich.

Upholding a motion by Senator Walsh, chief defense counsel, the court barred the prosecution from introducing evidence or testimony relating to government oil permits that were not actually pending before the interior department in January, 1923, the time when Wheeler's indictment charged he illegally received a fee to appear before Washington authorities relative to permits of Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, and his associates.

Blow to Prosecution

The decision admittedly was a blow to the prosecution, which was attempting to implicate Wheeler in all of Campbell's permits. The government must now confine itself to a narrowly restricted number of Campbell's permits and show Wheeler's alleged activities in behalf of those specific assignments.

Expressing disappointment at the ruling, John S. Slattery, United States district attorney, announced that on the remaining permits held admissable by the count he would prove that Wheeler, after election to the Senate, actually was paid $4000 by Campbell to straighten out oil land troubles in Washington.

ARMADA NEARING HAWAIIAN PORTS

Flagship Ahead Of Schedule As Fleet Trails 600 Miles Behind

ABOARD U. S. S. SEATTLE, BOUND FOR HONOLULU, April 20 (by wireless to International News Service). — Approaching Honolulu ahead of schedule, the U. S. S. Seattle, umpire ship of the forthcoming land and sea maneuvers to test the defenses of the Hawaiian islands, slowed down to fifteen knots an hour early this morning in order to reach Honolulu at about 9 a. m.

Complete details for umpiring the war games have been worked out and everything is in readiness to carefully study the operations involved and give an absolutely frank verdict.

Whereabouts of the attacking blue fleet is unknown, but it is believed to be about 600 miles from the island.

New Pardon Rule Made For Military Prisoner

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A policy of greater leniency for military prisoners was announced today by the war department. New regulations provide that prisoners may become eligible for parole after completing one-third of their sentences, although nine months must have been served. Prisoners at Governor's island, New York; Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and Alcatraz island, San Francisco, are affected.

Mincoff was killed resisting arrest, the dispatch said.

QUAKE SURVEY PLANNED BY UNCLE SAM

Geodetic Bureau Prepares to Make Exhaustive Study Of Earth Tremors

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service
Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The government is setting out to make an exhaustive and scientific study of earthquakes, with a view to ultimately predicting these upheavals of nature in advance—just as thunder showers, storms and high winds are now predicted with remarkable accuracy.

Announcement was made today that the survey will be undertaken by the United States coast and geodetic survey. It will take months, but the scientists who have it in charge are confident that ultimately they will be able to give advance notice of the probable time and place of future tremors, and the results will more than justify the time and expense involved.

No section of the United States is immune from destructive upheavals, although there are well-recognized "earthquake zones," William Bowie, a survey scientist, said today. "Earth tremors of varying intensity are recorded almost daily on seismographs along the Pacific coast, the Atlantic seaboard and the states bordering on the Mississippi river. More than 300 earthquakes occur every day in some part of the world. Earthquakes can be predicted as to time and place, but the strength of the tremors are uncertain, the element of time is uncertain and the area large," Bowie said.

Productions Made

"We may say with certainty, for instance, that there will be an earthquake on the Pacific coast within the next week, but, with our present limited knowledge of changes in the earth's crust and underlying disturbances, we cannot predict its intensity.

"Within the next century a heavy destructive earthquake is likely to occur along the Atlantic coast. The east cannot sit back and consider itself more secure from earthquakes than the far west.

"It is reasonably certain that we shall have a heavy earthquake

DELAY LOOMS IN FILLING COUNCIL'S VACANCY

Officials Not Expected To Take Action Tonight On Muhleman's Position

With a City Council of four members scheduled to take the oath of office tonight, appointment of a fifth member to fill the place vacated by the withdrawal of F. L. Muhleman today is still an uncertain quantity.

It was practically assured today that the appointment will not be made by the City Council at its meeting tonight. Although the matter will be formally discussed, there is a likelihood that the appointment will go over until the regular session of the new council next Thursday morning.

Organization of the new council, comprised of Harry G. MacBain, W. F. Tower, S. C. Kinch and C. E. Kimlin, is scheduled to be made following taking of the oath of office. City Clerk A. J. Van Wie will administer the oath to council members and to City Treasurer Ruth W. Kern.

Mayor to Be Chosen

Election of a mayor is also scheduled to be made tonight, following organization of the council. Three of the four votes will be necessary to name the mayor. Three of the four votes will also be required to appoint the fifth member of the council.

Because of that fact, it is believed in official circles that a compromise man may be decided upon because of a rumored split in the vote if either Muhleman's or S. S. Gilhuly's name is offered.

Muhleman, who withdrew as councilman-elect on the grounds that he is not qualified to take the oath of office, could be appointed to the office, it is held by some city officials. Others declare that if he was ineligible to election he should also be ineligible to appointment, despite the fact that he polled the second highest number of votes cast in Tuesday's municipal election.

May Propose Gilhuly

Gilhuly, who was runner-up when the votes were counted, Tuesday night, is expected to be nominated as councilman. He is expected also to meet opposition in the council chamber, however, when that body attempts to select Muhleman's successor, say City Hall reports.

No other names have been mentioned by council members as possible timber for appointment.

Tonight's session is scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock. Because of the important matter of selection of a mayor to rule the city's destiny for the next two years, arrangements are being made to care for one of the largest audiences that ever sat through a meeting.

As a result of Muhleman's

City Charter Conflicting On Council

Perhaps Attorneys Will Be Able to Solve This Cross-Word Puzzle

A provision of the city charter declares that each candidate for the council shall have been an elector of the city for at least one year next preceding the date of election at which he is a candidate. That provision prevented F. L. Muhleman, second highest candidate at the polls, from taking office tonight.

Another section of the city charter provides all councilmen shall hold office until their successors are elected and qualified. Councilman H. G. MacBain was re-elected; C. E. Kimlin was re-elected; W. F. Tower was elected councilman; S. C. Kinch was elected councilman; Councilman Sam Davis was defeated; S. S. Gilhuly was defeated; Spencer Robinson was not a candidate for re-election. So with Muhleman eliminated, there are four successful candidates to fill five vacancies on the council.

But are there five vacancies? All councilmen were elected at large; they did not run against each other or the other candidates; all candidates ran for five vacancies to occur. One of the five to receive the highest vote is disqualified. Which leaves four successful candidates to fill five positions.

Whose positions? Which of the members of the present council will give way?

The city charter also provides that if any officer of the city shall fail to qualify his office shall become vacant. Muhleman has failed to qualify. But, in view of the fact that he was not eligible in the first place, can he be considered as an officer?

Further, under these conflicting provisions of the city charter, can both Davis and Gilhuly—and Robinson, for that matter—take the view that their successors have NOT been elected and, consequently, hold office

Or, suppose Robinson, who was not a candidate, steps out tonight—who takes his place? Tower? Kinch? If one of them does, can Davis or Gilhuly under the charter step out for one of the newly-elected candidates? Suppose Davis steps out. Then all of the newly-elected councilmen are in office. Gilhuly is still on the board, for Muhleman cannot qualify for the fifth position!

And if that happens, is Gilhuly a qualified councilman under the conflicting provisions of the charter? For one provision says there is vacancy if an officer does not qualify and another provision says each council shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified!

But, suppose Davis does NOT step out? Suppose he and Gilhuly both maintain each is entitled to the fifth place?

Aside from these features of the puzzling situation, it is pointed out that, unfortunately, Muhleman was one of the authors of the city charter.

And that's not all, for—

Election of city councilmen in the municipal election held last Tuesday may be declared illegal and a new election called, if a move said to have been set in motion in certain quarters today is carried through to completion!

The action is said to be based on alleged illegal votes cast for F. L. Muhleman, who has withdrawn as councilman-elect because he had not been a qualified voter of Glendale for a period of one year next preceding the date of election.

Muhleman received a total of 3910 votes. Proponents of the move to have the entire election declared illegal claim that votes cast for him, distributed among the other candidates, would have made considerable change in the final result, and would have placed at least one defeated candidate in the list of elected councilmen.

Muhleman received the second highest number of votes cast in the municipal election for councilmen. The only candidate who received a larger number was Harry G. MacBain, who received 4462. While the distribution of Muhleman's 3910 votes, it is claimed by proponents of the move to have the election declared illegal, might not have made any additional holdovers from the old council, one or two candidates who were considerably

SECTIONS OF CHARTER IN PUZZLING CONFLICT

Is One, Or All Of Present Board Entitled To Stay, Awaiting Successor?

Who will occupy the swivel chairs at the City Council tonight?

Will all of the familiar faces of the old council be seen behind the railing in the council chamber? Or will the new members take their seats?

Conflicting sections of the city charter today deepened the mystery of "the way out," following withdrawal on Saturday of F. L. Muhleman as councilman-elect on the grounds that he is ineligible to take the oath of office because he has not been a "qualified elector" for a period of one year preceding the election.

One provision of the charter stipulates that "elective officers shall hold office * * * until their successors are elected and qualified."

Only four councilmen-elect are qualified to take the oath of office tonight. The charter provides that five members must form the council and remain members until their successors are elected and qualified. Which member of the old council will remain in his seat until a new councilman is named and qualified to the place?

Who Will Hold

Spencer Robinson is the only member of the old council who was not a candidate for re-election. Councilmen S. A. Davis and S. S. Gilhuly were defeated candidates. Under that provision of the charter, one of those two men would be required to hold office until a successor is qualified, it is claimed.

Both of these men could claim that he was to be succeeded by Muhleman. Much interest is being manifested today as to the way in which this charter section is followed tonight. Under it, the old council, with the probable exception of Robinson, could refuse to relinquish their seats until there are successors for all of the members. H. G. MacBain and C. E. Kimlin were re-elected from the old councilmanic body. Their seats are assured, it is asserted.

Conflicting Section

Another section of the city charter provides that "if any officer of the city shall * * * fail to qualify by taking the oath of office within fifteen days from the time his certificate of election or appointment is mailed or delivered to him * * * his office shall become vacant."

Under the provision that the office is declared vacant, the incoming council would have the authority to appoint, at its convenience, a new member to become fifth member of the council. There are only four councilmen-elect. Will the old members and the councilmen-elect clash over which section of the charter shall be followed in the present tangled situation?

The situation at present is this: H. G. MacBain and C. E. Kimlin are re-elected. There are three places supposed to become vacant. Only two councilmen-elect will be on hand tonight to fill those three places. Councilmen are elected at large. Whose places will these two new men, W. F. Tower and S. C. Kinch, fill?

All Muddled Up

Robinson, Gilhuly and Davis are councilmen until their successors qualify and take the oath. Two of these are expected to step out and permit their successors to take office. But which two? Who does Tower succeed? Who does Kinch succeed? Under these conditions the entire old council could hold office until the entire situation is untangled by appointment of the fifth member, it is declared.

And to add to the agony the new situation is causing at the city hall, it is pointed out that Muhleman was a member of the board who drew up the city charter. So, unfortunately, a provision of the city charter he helped to draw up disqualified Muhleman from taking office as councilman and now other provisions, in direct conflict, may cause a

'ANNABELLE' PLAY SET FOR OPENING

Dobinson Players Ready For Glendale Premiere Of Comedy Farce

The stage at the Glendale Playhouse is all set for the opening performance of "Good Gracious, Annabelle" tonight. This light and airy comedy is as different as possible from "Manna," which has occupied the best efforts of the Dobinson Players for the past three weeks. "Manna" was deadly serious and purposeful, even though there were flashes of mirth. The fair Annabelle is certainly not a serious person. Her chief purpose in life, and the purpose of the play, is to insure a good time for all.

Annabelle is revealed in the first act in the lobby of a fashionable New York hotel. A special set for this scene has been built up by the Playhouse mechanical and stage force under the direction of Producer Fred Butler and Stage Manager Joe Cox.

While a group of hungry young people, all well mannered, good looking and accustomed to the soft side of life, sit around and yearn for someone to buy them luncheon, since they have no money, two men stroll on and off in the most exasperating fashion. One is the house detective, who is being regaled by his friend, factotum on a big Long Island estate, with a description of the many good things to eat and drink which are literally going to waste there. The feelings of the impecunious listeners may be imagined.

Annabelle Wins

Annabelle the breezy presently appears and by some amusing subterfuges, manages to get the coveted luncheon. But her allowance has been spent for three months ahead; she has no means of supporting herself, nor have her friends. So, when an opportunity arises to put herself and all the rest of them into domestic service on the vast estate arises, she does so, and the whole cast is transported to Long Island.

The fun doesn't slacken any in the second act, and it increases its pace in the third. The Dobinson Players have thrown themselves into the rehearsals for "Annabelle" with a great deal of spirit, and believe that the piece will be a better laugh-maker, even, than the favorite "Ruined Lady."

"While some of our friends were disappointed that we ran "Manna" for three weeks," said Mrs. Dobinson, "we feel that the experiment was justified, because the receipts were exceptionally good, and we made new friends in all the surrounding cities. Our field has extended so that now we are steadily getting people from as far away as Redlands, Riverside, Oxnard and Ventura."

COLLEGE WOMEN ENTERTAIN GIRLS

High School Seniors Guests Of Club Saturday At First Annual Event

There were over eighty Glendale Union High school girls included in the company of over 190 members and guests attending the Glendale College Women's club Saturday at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, where the first annual social affair for senior girls of the local high school was held.

Real college atmosphere was offered in the caps and gowns worn by members of the reception committee, and in the colors of various colleges and universities seen in pennants, and pictures from the different institutions. Mrs. Frank C. Ayars was general chairman, assisted by Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mrs. Helen S. Moir, Miss Iva Hunter and officers of the club.

Preceding the program and informal social hour Mrs. Frank W. Parr, club president, directed a business session. Amendments read for the first time, dealt with the club,'s conforming with the fiscal year of the American Association of University Women; changing of the civics committee to the public affairs committee; changing of the committee for college interest among high school girls to the education committee to include two study sections, education and international relations.

To Elect Officers

Election of officers will take place at the May meeting. Members of the nomination committee named are Mrs. E. S. Wyman, chairman; Miss Bessie Field, Mrs. W. L. Jencks, Mrs. Shives Mitchell, Mrs. F. W. Cline. It is anticipated that two named will appear for every office on the ballot.

Announcement was made of a card party April 30 at the E. B. Wyman home, proceeds to go to the scholarship fund. Reservations can be made with Mesdames Parr, Labadie and Gillan. Mrs. Mullen has charge of the tickets.

Entertainment Saturday was provided by the University of Southern California. Miss Madeline Eddington, accompanied by Miss Mildred Morrison, sang. Tacie May Hannah of the school of speech, directed an original play.

Luxury Film

MARY PHILBIN, in "Fifth Avenue Models," now at Glendale theatre, is demure miss who stands up for her rights upon occasion.

Elaborate sets, eloquent of luxury; sets indicative of poverty; stunning gowns, beautiful women, fine acting by star and supporting cast. Such are the principal factors that go to make a great motion picture of "Fifth Avenue Models," Universal-Jewell starring Mary Philbin now showing at the Glendale theatre.

Other factors are fine photography, good direction and many intimately human touches, and of course, a good logical story. The little star, always winsome and appealing, in this picture she demonstrates that she can be far from demure when occasion demands it. There are two opportunities for her to display herself as a quick tempered, combative young person who feels that her rights and reputation have been assailed. And so, into the fray she goes, scorning by what on the speaking stage would be words, and once by strength of hands and feet in bitter physical combat.

It is the screen version of "The Best In Life," a best seller written by Muriel Hine. It will continue until tomorrow night.

Play, Sing, Dance

On the stage until Thursday night are Allen White's Collegians. This is an exceptional group of musicians who play, dance and sign—alone, in duets, trios and quartets. Their appearance gave entertainment of the highest quality to the crowds at the Glendale theatre yesterday and last night.

From the leader of this exceptional orchestra to each member, all are sufficiently versatile to entertain their audiences alone.

'The Rough Neck' Shown Today And Tomorrow; Vaudeville Wednesday

An unusually good bill is being shown at the Gateway theater today and tomorrow. George O'Brien plays the leading role in "Rough Neck." The story is by Robert W. Service, who wrote among other books, "The Spell of The Yukon."

For Wednesday Manager Loper promises in addition to the usual feature of select vaudeville, the photoplay, "The Narrow Street."

Methodist Episcopal Church Plans Meeting

The congregation of First Methodist church will be entertained tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the social hall of the church by members of the Aid society. New members of the society will be guests. A program of musical numbers and readings has been arranged. All members of the congregation are invited.

Easter Cantata Given At Tropico Services

The Easter cantata, "The Triumph," was presented by the Normandie Avenue Methodist church choir of Los Angeles last night at the Tropico Presbyterian church. Six members of the Tropico church choir appeared in the cantata.

Eagle Rock Services Attract Glendalians

Rev. C. A. Cole, Mrs. C. A. Cole and others from Central Christian church, will go to Eagle Rock tonight to attend the evangelistic service directed by Evangelist George B. Kellems and George G. Elder.

GRAIN ELEVATORS

PORTLAND, Ore., April 20.—Two grain elevators, one holding 10,000 tons and the other 6,000 will be started for the Balfour, Guthrie & Co., before May 1, according to D. A. Pattulo, manager.

Refreshments were served later with Mrs. George U. Moyse and Mrs. Frank C. Ayars pouring.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, April 20.—The fire district department, although established approximately ten months, has done considerable work in extinguishing fires and protecting property. They report twenty-three house, and fourteen brush fires since the establishment of the fire district. Since the arrival of the engine, there have been nine house fires and two brush fires.

Bids are desired for construction of fire engine house, to be erected on the lot on East El Centro street, purchased by the fire department. The plans and specifications have been prepared by the county fire department and are on file in the office of H. W. Zachau.

Also, bids will be received for grading the fire engine house lot, and hauling the earth to a lot across the street.

The Chamber of Commerce met and among the communications read by the secretary, was one relative to a bill before the Legislature for permitting the county to organize districts for the establishment and maintenance of parks. Motion was made and carried that the chamber endorse the bill.

Announcement was made by President Breidt that a force of men sent out by the county would very shortly canvass the community in regard to sanitary conditions, and he suggested that residents have their premises in good condition.

The matter of Fourth of July celebration was discussed, and it was voted that the president appoint a committee to take the matter in charge. President Breidt made a partial appointment and stated that he would appoint others at the next meeting.

Judge Earl Newmire, who was speaker at the Kiwanis club, gave his vision of the future relative to Tujunga Valley, and cited wonderful improvements instituted by that time, namely, 1932., in which the Kiwanis club had taken a very large part.

The Tujunga Realty board passed a resolution and wired it to the governor at Sacramento, endorsing the appointment of Charles B. Guthrie of Glendale, to the office of state real estate commission. Also, resolution was passed and wired to Representative Weller at Sacramento, opposing the passage of bill relative to changing the present law in regard to sub-dividing land, claiming that it would place too much power in the hands of the regional planning commission.

The third annual declamation contest, and annual exhibit of work, by pupils of the Tujunga grade schools, will be held during the afternoon and night of May 1. There will be exhibits of drawing, penmanship, written work, and handicraft. All pupils are eligible for entering the declamation contest, and three prizes will be offered. Mr. Fred Axe, telephone Sunland 807, will be pleased to give any desired information in regard to entering the contest.

The P.-T. A. will give a cafeteria dinner at the school-house on the same date, May 1, and thus there will be a continuous session during the afternoon and night.

Bankers Withholding German Loans, Report

BERLIN, April 20.—American bankers are withholding loans to Germany until after the presidential election here, a Reichstag committee heard when Foreign Minister Stresemann addressed it. Stresemann read what he said was a report from the German embassy in Washington. It said:

"Pending the result of the presidential election, negotiations for German credits probably will be delayed for some time to come."

The newspaper Vossiche Zeitung, in commenting on this said:

"It proves that American bankers are alarmed by the Hindenburg candidature."

TOLD WONDERS OF GLENDALE YEARS AGO

Booster Letters Written By Mrs. Julia Beers For Quarter Century

The art of writing California booster letters to "the folks back home" and mid-western and eastern newspapers is not new in Glendale, for over a quarter of a century ago, when the business section of Glendale was fields of sage brush traversed by dirt roads, Mrs. Julia E. Beers, then residing at 139 North Belmont street, was writing letters east of the beauties and promising features of California in general and Glendale in particular.

Mrs. Beers celebrated her eightieth birthday yesterday, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Reynolds, 910 Kenneth road, where she entertained, Saturday, relatives, members of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, and other friends.

Julia E. Reynolds was born April 19, 1845, in Cannonsville, N. Y. When she was very young her family moved to Sherman, Pa. The family was composed of two brothers and two sisters and parents. When Julia was 19 years old her father, Devillo Reynolds, gave his life in the Civil war and was brought home in a flag-draped casket and buried by the side of his wife, who died eleven weeks before.

Patriotic Strain

An inspiring note of patriotism runs through the whole family history. Oliver Hale, the great grandfather, was cousin of Nathan P. Hale, hanged by the British as a spy, whose last words were: "My one regret is, I have only one life to give for my country." Oliver Hale was one of eight who survived on the Quebec expedition to Canada, when Benedict Arnold betrayed the American forces. Members of the expedition suffered terrible privations, and all but the eight starved to death.

Miss Reynolds and Francis Marion Beers were married in 1867. In 1874 they went to Missouri, where they lived until coming to California to reside in 1897, building a home at 139 North Belmont street, Glendale. They made their home there until Mr. Beers' death in 1910. Mrs. Beers still owns the little home, now occupied by her brother, J. F. Reynolds, and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Beers had three children, two sons and a daughter. There are two living, Mrs. William H. Reynolds, with whom Mrs. Beers now makes her home, and a son, R. E. Beers of Anaheim. Mrs. Beers has three grandchildren, Ronald E. Beers, jr., Vera Beers and Oliver Hale Beers of Anaheim. She also has another brother in Glendale, E. D. Reynolds, who resides, with his wife, at 343 West Ivy street.

Likes to Write

In the happy atmosphere of her daughter's foothill home Mrs. Beers enjoys recalling early days in Glendale, when "The Fastest Growing City in the United States" was yet to be "discovered." Even then she was in-

Tree Planting Service Held By War Mothers

Memorial tree planting ceremonies were held Saturday afternoon at Grand View Memorial park by Lester Meyer chapter, American War Mothers of Glendale. Patriotic organizations of Glendale taking part in the program were N. P. Banks post, G. A. R.; Glendale camp, Spanish War Veterans; Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion. Mrs. Susan, P. Bradish gave introductory remarks after the singing of "America" with Robert Taylor, G. A. R. veteran, directing. The tree, a cedrus deodora, was planted in memory of Robert Stine of Eagle Rock, who passed away while en route to France to serve during the World war and was buried at sea.

The tree planting is an annual event of the War Mothers. Rev. C. R. Norton, chaplain of N .P. Banks post, G. A. R., gave the invocation and also pronounced the benediction at the close of the ceremony. Judge Emery of Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion, and William Reeves of Glendale camp, Spanish War Veterans, gave short addresses. Lester Meyer Chapter, American War Mothers, gave the pledge to the flag. The singing of a verse of "The Star Spangled Banner" completed the program. A delegation from Los Angeles chapter, American War Mothers, attended.

DIRIGIBLE TO BE MADE IN GLENDALE

Thomas Slate Announces Plans For Manufacturing Latest Type Here

Thomas Slate, noted aerial inventor and the man who introduced aerial radio, will build his latest type of dirigible in Glendale, he announced today. Mr. Slate, a Glendale man, living at 1232 East Stanley avenue, will appear before the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow afternoon and will explain the theory of his latest invention—a propellerless dirigible, capable of making 100 miles an hour through the air.

With the proper facilities made available here to house the construction of the great steel bag, Mr. Slate will build the complete dirigible in this city, he said.

With his new craft, the result of many months of experimenting and the knowledge of years spent in aerial work, Mr. Slate proposes, not to drive his ship through the air by means of propellers, but to create a vacuum in front of the nose of the bag by means of six huge vacuumizing motors, arranged in the front end of the ship. The air sucked in by these vacuum fans will be sent out behind the ship, giving a powerful wind push from the rear. Without propellers, he thus hopes to attain a speed of more than 100 miles an hour, in an aircraft far more flight-worthy than the present dirigibles. Special anchoring inventions will be put into use on the new craft also.

Santa Barbara Meet

Coincident with the announcement of Mr. Slate that he will start aero manufacturing activities in Glendale, announcement of the time and place of the organization meeting of the Southwest Aeronautical association, the outgrowth of the recent air rodeo in Glendale, was made by Dr. T. C. Young, temporary chairman of that body. Dr. Young stated this morning that he had completed arrangements to have representatives of all cities of the southwest at Santa Barbara on Saturday, May 16, when permanent organization will be completed. Earl Ovington and members of the Santa Barbara Flying club will be hosts to the delegates.

In an effort to further commercial air activities in Glendale and at the Glendale airport, owners of the airport will meet with a number of Glendale business men on Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, Roy L. Kent, member of the airport corporation announced today. Included among those who will attend this meeting will be D. Ripley Jackson, D. H. Smith, Dr. T. C. Young, Mr. Kent and others.

SHERER GIVES REPORT FOR SERVICES

Retiring City Treasurer In Explanation Of Work In Public Office

Editor The Evening News:—"In turning over to his successor the keys of the city treasury, the retiring official feels that a statement in regard to the office, its responsibilities and the scope of its activities, constitute a news item of sufficient interest to the people of Glendale, to justify publication of this informal report. The figures given are of value also in indicating the rapid growth of the municipality within a very short period of time.

"As to the service performed: First, of course, is the receiving of all the money paid in to all departments of the city government, for all of these items a receipt in triplicate is given, one to the person or department paying the money, another for the controller and the other for the office record. The principal item of receipts is taxes, which are collected by the county tax collector in connection with the county taxes and distributed by the county auditor, usually about thirty days after collection from the taxpayers. The amount of taxes to be collected for city purposes for the year ending July 1, 1925, is $523,152. Other collections paid the treasurer during the year from the various departments, for fees, fines, licenses, etc., will amount to about $115,000. The amount of interest paid on deposits of city money by the banks for the present year will amount to about $23,000.

Open Accounts

"On open accounts based on daily balances the banks are paying 2 per cent, and on time deposits 3 per cent. The law requires that the city money shall be let to the highest bidder, but this implies competition which as a matter of fact does not to any great extent exist, and even if such competition existed, the same law which names this requirement, also limits the amount of public money that may be deposited in any one bank to 20 per cent of the whole.

"Another limitation is imposed by fixing the amount that any one bank may hold, at 90 per cent of its paid up capital. Neither is it always pratical to deposit the money on term deposit for the sake of securing the higher rate of interest, as, particularly in regard to bond money, as in the case of the money received for the sewer bonds for instance, a demand may be made for it at an uncertain future date. It will be apparent therefore that notwithstanding the wise provisions of the law intended to safeguard the public funds, there is still something to be left to the discretion of the treasurer.

Shortage Possibility

"Notwithstanding the various means taken to protect the public funds, it has occasionally been demonstrated elsewhere that a public official who is disposed to be dishonest, can in one way or another find means to appropriate funds to his own use, although the chances of his escaping ultimate discovery, are almost negligible. It may be superfluous to state that there has not as yet in the history of Glendale, any shortage ever been found in the accounts of the city treasurer. This official is bonded by a surety company in the sum of $25,000 and the accounts are audited by a firm of expert accountants four times a year.

"Money is paid out on warrants drawn by the controller and approved by the city manager. At present the money of the city of Glendale is deposited in about twenty different banks, the 20 per cent limitation referred to above making it impossible to keep all in the home banks. Every bank that receives public money on deposit is required to place with the depositor as security, acceptable securities, government, municipal, state or district bonds 10 per cent in excess of the amount of money deposited. The public money is therefore absolutely safe-guarded against loss by bank failure.

Glendale Deposits

"The city of Glendale has deposited in various banks at present something over a million dollars; while the value of securities belonging to the banks, in possession of the treasurer, is about $1,400,000. As indicative of the growth of the city during the past few years, a comparative statement may be interesting. When the undersigned was appointed treasurer, November 1921, the total amount of money in the treasury was $262,232. Note how this increased as shown by the figures for the years following:

November 1922	$ 270,423
November 1923	450,941
November 1924	1,052,063

"It should be stated, however, that the large increase of last year is partly attributable to the sale of $650,000 of sewer bonds in September, 1924; about one-third of this sum still being in the treasury at this time.

"On the first of April of this year there was $1,108,264 in the treasury, of which sum $262,654

Official Welcome to Show

Photograph of parchment scroll invitation to the fifth annual Harbor Industrial Exposition at Long Beach, which was extended to the city of Glendale today by H. F. BURMESTER, left, president of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, on behalf of RAY R. CLARK, right, mayor of the beach city.

A unique invitation to Long Beach's fifth annual Harbor Industrial exposition, to be held in that city April 22 to 29, was presented to the officials and populace of Glendale today. The invitation was in the form of a parchment scroll, and it was personally delivered to Glendale city officials by a committee from the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce consisting of H. F. Burmester, John Hewitt and John H. Betts, who journeyed from the beach city by automobile.

The parchment scroll is appropriately done in old English type, and is embellished with ribbons and the gold seal of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. It carries the personal signatures of Ray R. Clark, mayor of Long Beach; H. F. Burmester, president of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce; J. David Larson, executive secretary of the chamber, and Paul Graham, chairman of the exposition committee. The text of the invitation reads as follows:

"The city of Long Beach and the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce extend greetings and a cordial invitation to the city officials, Chamber of Commerce and the people of Glendale, to attend the fifth annual Harbor Industrial exposition of Southern California, to be held in Long Beach, California, April 22 to 29, 1925. This exposition will graphically portray the industrial and commercial development in the harbor district. It will be a unified display showing progress and achievement in the development of the Southland."

H. F. Burmester, chairman of the committee who delivered the parchment, stated that upwards of 40,000 people are expected to attend the big Long Beach event this year. According to Mr. Burmester, 152 industrial and commercial exhibits will be displayed, enhanced by the most elaborate decorations ever before attempted in the Long Beach municipal auditorium. Herbert L. Clarke's nationally-known Long Beach municipal band will give concerts daily. There will be a fashion review each night. Many novel entertainment features and surprises are planned and the program will vary each day. The exposition will be open both afternoon and night from April 22 to 29, except Sunday.

EASTER EXPENSES

DENVER, April 20.—More than $1,000,000 was spent for Easter finery in this city, according to local merchants, who say their sales were higher than any other year except possibly 1920.

DRIVE BEGINS TO ENHANCE CHAMBER

One Hundred Campaigners Seek New Memberships To Commerce Body

One hundred campaigners set out this morning to double the membership of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in five days. With a preliminary organization which provides for a definite function on the part of every present member of the chamber, the campaign was launched with a bang. Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. T. C. Young, membership chairman, predicted early success for the drive, expressing the belief that the membership of the chamber will be more than doubled in the allotted time.

Without the aid of an outside organizer, the chamber has set out on its drive, requesting "every member to get a member." The campaigners will first visit all present members, expecting them to have the name of a prospect ready. After this field of candidates has been thoroughly canvassed, the campaigners will visit another large list of business and professional men in an effort to swell the chamber's membership roster to the limit.

Reports Tonight

All chamber members blossomed out today with small yellow tags attached to their coat lapels. The tags bore the slogan, "I am a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Are you?"

Tonight at 6:15 o'clock, first reports on the drive will be given

A HOT ARGUMENT—
Never helps develop cool judgments.
Is a poor way to make warm friends.
Seldom settles any real differences.

Means tongues in high with brains in neutral.
Never smothers any old animosities.
Seldom increases anyone's self-respect.

RED TAPE IS BINDING

That it is possible for necessary restrictions to cause hardships and bring about the opposite effect to the one intended was illustrated in the recent election when one of the newly-elected councilmen was declared disqualified for office, and it is understood that another of the candidates would have been declared disqualified had he been elected.

It was a wise provision in the city charter that makes it incumbent upon those who serve as councilmen to have been residents of the city for a year, because those who have lived here for a shorter period than that cannot be thoroughly conversant with conditions or with the needs of the city. Indeed, it would seem that a residence of two years in the city would not be too much to ask. At any rate, the purpose of that clause in the charter was to make sure of placing in the council men who are familiar with local municipal affairs.

It is probable and ironical, indeed, that none of the candidates for councilman have lived in Glendale as long as Mr. Muhleman and Mr. Usilton, whose residence for a short time outside the limits of Glendale makes them ineligible at the present time to serve as city officials. It is also probable that none of the candidates are more familiar with conditions in the municipality than these two men.

No one is to blame. Certain stipulations and restrictions must be made in electing city officials and legal requirements must be fulfilled. It only serves to show the character of red tape. There is no elasticity to the stuff. No compromise is possible.

CHARM AND PROFIT IN FLOWERS

The Glendale Evening News has often suggested that Glendale has not made the most of her opportunities in surrounding her homes and lining her streets with trees and flowers. The San Bernardino Sun says in regard to flowers: "Every home in California, whether rural or urban, should be embowered in flowers the year 'round. Our climate renders this possible. But there is more than mere personal pleasure in growing flowers. There is a big monetary reward. If the lawns and curbings of our city and village homes and the ranch homes by the roadsides were made beautiful by flowers and trees it would have a tremendous advertising value with the thousands who wheel along our highways and form their opinions of us from what they see. By beautifying the highways we would not only make life more enjoyable for ourselves, but we would be increasing the value of every acre of land in the state by encouraging investment and immigration. Not everything is both pleasant and profitable, but making our homes and highways beautiful is just that."

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine says that flowers should play a greater part in rural life than they do and that much of the drabness of life is due to an absence of flowers. When it is possible to have flowers the year 'round, as it is here in Glendale, we are burying our talent and hiding our light under a bushel when we do not produce them in profusion. There is no better time than right now to plant flowers.

JUSTICE OVERRULED

The recent dismissal of the oil conspiracy indictments by the District of Columbia supreme court is a good example of the way technicalities take the place of justice in our courts. The case was dismissed on the ground that an assistant attorney general was in the grand jury room when the indictments were being considered. The attorney prepares and conducts the investigation before the jury, presents the witnesses and directs the whole proceeding, and in the end prepares the indictments and is responsible for their accuracy. Yet because at some point in the proceedings, when the jury is supposed to be in secret session and, technically, the attorney, who is not a member of the jury, was present in the room, the indictments are nullified and the whole matter will have to be gone over again by another jury.

With technicalities such as this hindering the work of the courts, as well as those which the lawyers advance to support their own cases, is it any wonder that court calendars are overcrowded and that certain cases drag along interminably?

TOO MUCH BRYAN

Democratic leaders have recently been conferring in an attempt to rehabilitate the party, and they have been asking, "What is the matter with the Democratic party?" From many quarters comes the answer, "Too much Bryan." The New York Times declared during the campaign that Mr. Bryan's nomination insured party defeat at the outset of the campaign, and the New York World, a Democratic paper, says:

"If the Democratic party is to wage a successful campaign in 1928 or any subsequent year, it must be done forever with Mr. Bryan, his family and his platforms."

It may be that the wish of Woodrow Wilson expressed in 1907 is about to be realized. He said: "Would that we could do something at once dignified and effective to knock Mr. Bryan for all time into a cocked hat."

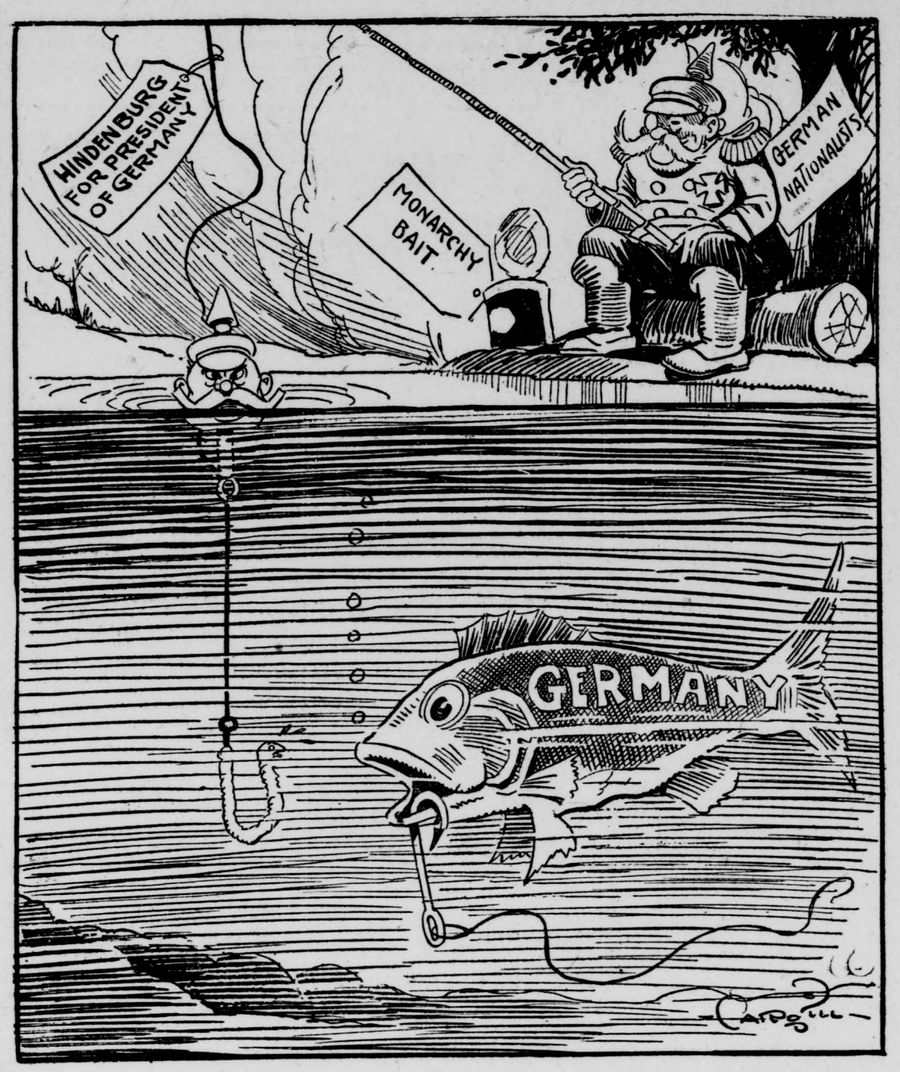
SAVE THE FORESTS

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has set aside the week beginning April 27 to be known as National Garden Week. And the American Tree Association of Washington is urging everyone to celebrate the centennial of Arbor Day, which will occur in 1972, by planting trees now, and it is conducting a campaign to enlist new members in its tree planting campaign. It is a movement that is worthy of support, especially here in Southern California where forests serve a double purpose, holding the moisture in the ground when it rains and saving it for irrigation. It will take years to replenish with vegetation the hills and the mountains that have been scarred by fire the last few years. Any movement for reforestation or for preserving our trees is commendable.

WRANGELL ISLAND

Wrangell island promises to be the subject of considerable wrangling. The Lomens, millionaire reindeer kings of Alaska, want to occupy the island for the United States. Russia claims the territory and has arrested a party of Americans who attempted to colonize it. Great Britain feels that she has some claim to the island through its discovery by Steffanson, although Steffanson's rights were purchased by the Lomens. Someone suggests that although Wrangell is not worth a war, neither was the assassination of an Austrian nobleman.

THE HINDENBURG LINE
(Is He Going to Get Hooked Again?)



The Sixth Sense
By DR. FRANK CRANE

There has always been a feeling of lively interest in the great sea of nescience that surrounds our science.

There are a lot more things that we do not know than we do know.

Mrs. Henry Sidgwick of the Society of Psysical Research has recorded in a paper the experiments in thought transference carried out by Professor Gilbert Murray, in which the Earl of Balfour recently participated.

The way we sense the infinite around us is not confined to the usual five senses of sight, sound, smell, taste and touch. It is conceived that we may appreciate another's thought by some other sense than these.

As in the case of telepathy there may be thought transference without any purely physical process. There may be brain waves which are transmitted through the ether and which are received without the operation of the usual senses.

There has always been a disposition on the part of some to penetrate into the unknown, but so far as is now established there has been no distinct and definite understanding of mental telepathy. We are still moving in a sea of mystery and the facts of mental telepathy have not yet been firmly established.

Mrs. Sidgwick classifies her subjects into five divisions; first, scenes of incidents in which friends and acquaintances are concerned; second, scenes or incidents from books or plays; third, fantastic scenes, including dreams; fourth, particular quotations asked for, and fifth, scenes in which human beings do not appear.

The highest percentage of success was in the third class, and her explanation is that these had a more explosive quality and were perceived with the greatest attention.

Professor Murray in his presidential address to the society declared that he was inclined provisionally to admit the likelihood that we may become directly sensitive to another person's state of mind.

This statement will require a lot more proof.

Thought transference at present is an occasional and unusual incident and the laws underlying it have not yet been discovered. What the future has in store for us, of course, we cannot tell.

Horoscope

Uncertain aspects appear to rule this day, according to astrology. Although, Jupiter, Mercury, Venus and the Sun are in a faintly benefic aspect, Uranus in evil place has dominating influence.

It is a day in which it is wise to go around a corner rather than to do business with women, who will be very pertinacious under this direction.

There is a fair prospect of good luck to merchants and manufacturers, who do not take big risks, under this rule.

Mercury smiles on editors and publishers, who are to benefit greatly in the coming year, although the survival of the fittest will be demonstrated.

Publishers who seek to direct political policies in many states may be most unfortunate, for the planetary government is adverse where mushroom newspapers are involved.

Hotels and theaters now should prosper greatly, although both will undergo great changes in management wherever there is not a solid foundation.

Women are to be unusually successful as dramatists and as producers of plays, if the stars are read aright.

Girls may ask for employment under this rule and may hope to obtain good positions.

Accidents to aviators may be expected under the evil direction of Uranus and the greatest care should be taken to avoid disasters.

Intrigue is likely to flourish today when there will be a tendency toward dissimulation. Americans are to learn indirection from Europeans and to abandon their frankness, unless the stars are wrongly interpreted.

While this configuration prevails women may be subject to an excess of vanity and an increased craving for beauty.

Warning is given that love which kindles under this rule of the stars may soon become soot which blackens one or the other of the adoring ones.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be most careful not to make any change in places of abode or business. Success should be fair this year.

Children born on this day may be restless and fond of travel, but able to mingle business and pleasure. These subjects of Taurus usually have great luck all through life.

Today's Poem

When lovely woman stoops to folly
And finds too late that men betray—
What charm can soothe her melancholy,
What art can wash her guilt away?

The only art here guilt to cover.
To hide her shame from every eye,
To give pentance to her lover
And wring his bosom, is—to die.

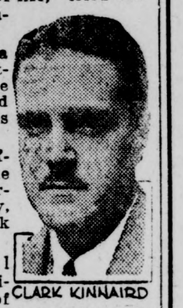
The Best of Advice
By CLARK KINNAIRD



"Thought, thought, is the fundamental distinction of mind, and the great work of life," cried William Ellery Channing.

"All that a man does outwardly is but the expression and completion of his inward thought.

"To work effectually, he must think clearly. To act nobly, he must think nobly.

"Intellectual force is a principal element of the soul's life, and should be proposed by every man as a principal end of his being."

It is common to distinguish between the intellect and the conscience, between power of thought and virtue, and say that virtuous action is worth more than strong thinking.

But we mutilate our nature by thus drawing lines between actions or energies of the soul, it was believed by Channing, the chief apostle of New England Unitarianism.

"The head and the heart are not more vitally connected than thought and virtue," he opined.

Channing's philosophy is characterized by his passionate faith in the divinity of human nature.

Does conscience include, as part of itself, the noblest action of the intellect or reason? Do we degrade it my making it mere feeling? Is it something more? Is it a wise discernment of the right, the good?

"Take away thought from virtue, and what remains worthy of man?" Channing observes.

"Without power of thought, what we call conscientiousness, or a desire to do right, shoots out into illusion, exaggeration, pernicious excesses.

"The most cruel deeds on earth have been perpetrated in the name of conscience.

"Men have hated and murdered one another from a sense of duty.

"The worst frauds have taken the name of pious."

Thought, intelligence, is the dignity of man, and no man is rising but in proportion as he is learning to think clearly and forcibly.

Who's Who

The recent appointment of Renick W. Dunlap as first assistant secretary of agriculture in President Coolidge's "little cabinet" gives Ohio its first representative in that important post.

Dunlap, so far as anyone in his home state can recall, is Ohio's first assistant secretary of agriculture. Ohio never has been very strongly represented in the department of agriculture, although Ohio is a great agricultural state and has one of the best agricultural colleges in the country.

That Dunlap is unusually qualified for the position is indicated by the fact that for 30 years since his graduation from the college of agriculture of Ohio State University he has been a practical dirt farmer. He was born on a farm and his ancesters for generations have been farmers. Until 1923 he operated his farm near Kingston as a grain, cattle and hog farm, and since then has added a dairy. He was one of the early members of the grange and has been active in the American Farm Bureau federation.

Dunlap is known throughout the country as a livestock expert. He has bought and sold livestock in the markets of Chicago, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, East St. Louis, New Orleans, Jacksonville, Fort Worth, Cincinnati and Columbus. He has owned herds of pure bred shorthorn cattle and Duroc hogs, and has exhibited animals of his breeding at county fairs and the Ohio state fair. He has acted as a judge of cattle, horses and hogs at many fairs and expositions.

For four years Dunlap was state dairy and food commissioner and did much to eradicate impure and misbranded foods, drinks and drugs. In 1915 he was chosen secretary of the Ohio state board of agriculture. He is therefore considered as a thoroughly experienced executive as well as an expert in practical farming.

BEET SUGAR ROW

DENVER, April 20.—Since the breaking of the deadlock between the beet growers of Colorado and the Western Sugar Co., concerning the contract offered by the company, signing up of acreage for the 1925 crop has proceeded rapidly. It is not expected, however, that the area planted will be as large as in 1924.

PACKERS WORRIED

CHICAGO, Apr. 20.—Packers say this of the meat business for the last week: "Trade has been slightly better in pork, although the demand for smoked meat is not so great as last year. Cattle prices have not responded to the increased receipts and the acute shortage of low priced meat of all kinds continues."

TEXAS DRILLING OIL

FORT WORTH, April 20.—Drilling in Northwest Texas oil fields which has been held up for six months by dry weather will now be resumed. The shortage of water has not been entirely relieved, however.

GEORGIA PEACHES

ATLANTA, April 20.—The Georgia peach exchange estimates that the damage done the middle Georgia peach crop by recent wind and hailstorms will reach $500,000.

FABRICATED STEEL

PITTSBURGH, April 20.—Fabricated steel contracts placed here in the last week are reported to have exceeded 21,000 tons. Heavy melting steel scrap has declined $1 a ton in the last week.

'CHRISTIAN DUTY' TOLD IN SERMON

'Show Us God' Is Theme Of Talk Given By Pastor At Central Church

"Show Us God," was the subject of the sermon delivered last night by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church at the church. He said:

"The Gospel of John gives us a picture of a group of men gathered around a ministering man who is telling them many of the great truths that were new to the world, who was making a speech such as had never fallen on mortal ears before. In the midst of it one of the group broke in with an insistent request. He didn't know he was speaking for all men, for you and me. He spoke the deepest word that the history of humanity knows, "Show us the Father and it sufficeth us." It mattered not how wisely Christ spoke. He probably could have elaborated the doctrine of a divine nature and the proof of the existence of a creator. But the thing that they were anxious for him to do was to manifest God by a living disclosure.

Christian Duty

"And this is your duty and mine as Christians. We must reveal Christ as a person, giving Him to men as a living reality. Now, if we cannot do this it matters little what else we can do as Christians. You may say you believe in Him but do you cause others to believe in Him? God is too much of a sentiment these days. He is in too much of an eclipse. The prosperous class thinks Him unnecessary; the unprosperous think Him useless. Some scholars have eliminated Him from their thinking and the ignorant from their living.

"The average man who does so is not a blatant infidel or atheist. He simply shrugs his shoulder and blusters wildly as he says, "I don't know." God simply doesn't count. He is spoken of in a vague, indistinct way as "the first cause," "the life force," "the stream of tendency," "all love," "divine essence." What poor substitutes for the God to whom our grandfathers prayed! It is fine to talk about the immanence of God, about His transcendence. But what we need is a consciousness of God. In the midst of our charity and brotherhood and social service we are surer than our fathers were that God is good and kind, but we are not half so sure that He is, and that He is omnipotent, that He is the judge of all.

Must Know God

"We must have God in the church, we must 'practice His presence,' we must reveal Him in our walks with men, we must carry with us every day an awareness that He is here. Christ revealed God because He knew Him, because He was like God in character and purpose, because He faithfully presented God—this God whom He knew, whom He was like—to the people He knew. You and I must know Him, must be like Him, must show Him as He is.

"The real problem is to make God real; not to a tribe, or a parish, or to a few, but to all mankind. How? Through Jesus Christ. He is the revelation of God, not a protection from Him. We do not need to believe nor teach anything about God that Jesus hasn't revealed. You cannot explain the gods of the nations nor our own great God so He will be understood, but you are all-powerful if you are able to say out of experience and acquaintance and personal resemblance, 'God is like Christ Jesus.' Men will understand that! Anywhere, in any land, in the presence of any other or all other gods, we can rest our case on the God of our Lord Jesus Christ. To know Him is eternal life, to be like Him is to have a transfigured life, to make others know Him is life exalted and glorified.

"We ought to preach more about God. He was the strength and the life of what Christ had to say and of what we have to say and show to men. Christ came to show us God. All centers here. He knew Him, was like Him and revealed Him. That's our task!"

'DAY IN GALILEE' GRAND VIEW TEXT

Jesus' Routine In Appearing After Easter Described By Rev. Thomas

Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of Grand View Community church preached yesterday, saying:

"There is a great deal of mystery, a heavenly beauty, a delightful human fellowship and tenderness, a stirring challenge in the incidents of the forty days from the resurrection when Jesus repeatedly appeared to His disciples. But of all these meetings, none is recorded with such a satisfying wealth of detail as the promised meeting in Galilee when Jesus appeared to the seven fishermen by the beloved sea. It seems as if this meeting were planned to complete in John's gospel the beautiful fourteenth chapter that the hearts of the disciples might indeed 'not be troubled.'

"There is so much in it of the glad, free out-of-doors which Jesus loved! The breath of dawn, sunrise over the sea, the majesty of mountain and sky, bring their glory to Him who made them as He waits beside the strand. There is so much intimate human companionship in it! Jesus building all by Himself a fire, letting it burn down to coals, broiling fish and toasting bread, waiting for hungry, cold, dripping men, his 'friends,' to come in to breakfast—and just as they come near the shore, discouraged and empty handed, He fills their discouraged net with fisherman's joy making the morning perfect—there is a wealth and a world of intimacy with the Great Companion here that would by itself make the story immortal.

Wonderful Setting

"But the wonderful setting, the story, the intimacy are all for a purpose. Sometimes people mistake the purpose, too. Many people think that the great conversation after breakfast was to teach Peter an unforgettable lesson, and it was. But that was not the only nor the greatest purpose. The most important thing in the lesson was not Peter but Peter's task. Peter had to be made ready to triumph in the task, and the Lord's greatest concern was not to make Peter repentant for repentance's sake, but to make Peter get busy on the great work the risen Christ wanted done.

"It was a diversified task, too, not a mere iteration of the same thing. 'Feed my lambs,' said Jesus. 'Nourish the souls of children and young folk. Assure a spiritual future for the world, an abundant, not a starved life. If you love Me, do that, Peter.'

Watchful, Careful

"Tend my sheep, Peter. If you love Me, be watchful and careful for the men and women, the aged, the suffering, the afflicted, the wandering, the farspent. They need, oh, so much shepherding! Many of them were not fed when they were lambs. They were not tended. They wandered away. Many that were tended have strayed, somehow, and eaten poisons in their food. They need tending, Peter. Go get them, and tend them, if you love Me. Don't keep your heartaches over your denial of Me. I have forgiven you that. But don't deny them in their need. If you do, I can never forgive you. Tend my sheep.

"Feed my sheep, Peter. They will be hungry when you get them in. Feed them wholesome, sound food, that will rebuild life in strength, sanity, sweetness and purity. Badly nourished sheep and men are weak and bitter. They keep wandering hungrily. Feed them right and they will stray no more. You know what to feed them, Peter. Feed them what I have fed you. You know you said 'Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of Eternal Life.'

"Feed My Sheep"

"Well now you must feed my sheep those same words of Eternal Life, bread from heaven, meat and drink for the life of the world. Feed them what they can work on, Peter, because there is a Kingdom they must build for Me. There are the keys, Peter. They are Faith, Hope, and Love. Be sure you build the doors to fit the keys.'

"And by the way, Peter, don't be curious or jealous about John or any of the rest. I fed the lambs, tended the sheep, fed the sheep. If you love Me, follow Me and do that same."

"Friends, that is the task of the church, ours and Peter's, ours from the same hands. I do not believe in the Apostolic succession or Ecclesiastical traditions, but I do believe in the Apostolic succession of tasks and responsibilities. What the Lord told Peter to do He is telling us this morning in Grand View. Let us be about it, if we love Him."

Rev. Millikan Preaches In Johnson's Absence

Rev. L. J. Millikan, former pastor of Broadway Methodist church, south, preached yesterday morning at the church on the subject, "The New Commandment." Rev. M. M. Johnson, pastor of the church, is conducting revival services at the First Methodist church at Downey. Donald M. Castlen, junior preacher of the Broadway church, preached last night on the subject, "What Am I Bid?"

PASTOR RELATES POWER OF CHRIST

Rev. Kemp Preaches Sermon On Events Following Easter Sunday

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal church, preached yesterday on the subject, "Resurrection of Jesus Tells of Power of Christ." He said:

"It is one of the interesting facts of the resurrection of Jesus that it immediately placed the disciples and friends of Jesus under the obligation to go and tell others about Him. The women who came to the tomb returned to find the disciples and tell the good news. On the road they met Jesus and fell down and worshiped Him, for He was truly their Lord. This speaks of the new relationship of man to God through Jesus Christ. That which had been implied in His ministry now became an actuality. The Son of Man had become the Son of God in reality. The disciples now realized what they had so imperfectly understood before, that He was in very reality the divine Son of God. The limitations of the flesh had been removed by the resurrection, for, as he said, 'All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.'

New Testament

"The story of the resurrection comes to us with words of the great command to go forth as worshipers of the Lord Jesus Christ. We only have to read the New Testament to see how true this is. The disciples knew that Jesus was in truth the Son of God. He had come through all the trials and temptations of human life successfully; sin had no more dominion over Him; the limitations of the flesh could not defeat Him. Death, the great reaper, had to acknowledge Him the victor over the great weakness of life.

"In all his career the divine nature shone through; hate and jealousy strove against Him in vain, and love in Him became transcendent. No man ever so forcibly lived what he believed and demonstrated, that the supreme element in man's spiritual equipment is the power of love. This earthly life was the great prophesy of the heavenly, for the resurrection tells of God's supreme attribute, which is love. The disciples worshiped Him as their Saviour. We see this along three lines of thought: First, they showed by their preaching that the sins of life are overcome by the power of Christ.

Peter's Preaching

"Those who came to the disciples in response to Peter's preaching were told to repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. He had the power to give them a new start in life and to rework in them the miracle of a resurrection in life. The sick and the lame were healed by the power of Jesus Christ. He had control of their life, both here and beyond. By prayer, by sacrament and by a life of sacrifice they showed their faith in Jesus as their Saviour.

"This is the faith which we have inherited and which we must live. Whatever may be our private conception of life, if we want to be truly Christian we must give our life in prayer, sacrament and service to Him. This is not only for our own private lives, but also for the life of society, for that life is but an extension of the life of many individuals. Let us, therefore, pray and work that Christ may rise in the heart of the world, that the world may be baptized in the gospel of love, and that all may be willing to live and die for Christ."

Rev. Livingston Talks On 'Great Physician'

"The Sick World and the Great Physician" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of the church. Special music was rendered by Mrs. R. D. Jones.

PASTOR EXPLAINS LUTHERAN FAITH

Dr. Funk, In Sunday Sermon, Tells Of High Lights In Religion

"A Look Into Our Lutheran Faith" was the subject of the communion address made yesterday morning by Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of First Lutheran church. He said:

"The great doctrine of the Lutheran church, that of Justification by Faith, centers in Christ. The life-giving nature of the Lord's Supper comes from the giving and receiving of Christ. He redeemed us with His own precious blood and innocent suffering. The Atonement was universal, intended for all men, and effective for all sins. Those who are lost are responsible for their own condemnation, because they have either neglected or refused to accept the terms for peace and pardon.

"With us Baptism and the Lord's Supper are neither signs nor symbols. They have life-giving power. Baptism is not regeneration, but it effects regeneration, since we are baptized for the remission of sins. The new life thus imparted is further nourished and strengthened through the Sacrament of the Altar.

Lord's Supper

"We do not celebrate the Lord's Supper, we administer the Sacramental Word. Moreover we believe that the Saviour meant what He said when He declared: 'This is my body.' Hence the Lord's Supper holds an important place in our faith. Thus our church, through word and sacrament, is preparing people for the enjoyment of eternal life.

"My Church! My Church! I love my Church!
For she exalts my Lord!
She speaks, she breathes, she teaches not
But from His written Word.
And if her voice bids me rejoice,
From all my sins released;
'Tis through the atoning sacrifice,
And Jesus is the Priest."

Glendale Youngsters At Field Day Frolic

One-hundred and fifty Glendale boys enjoyed the field day and frolic staged by Hollywood Y. M. C. A. for youths of Southern California last Saturday. More than 1,800 boys from Santa Barbara to San Diego gathered at Hollywood Saturday morning to witness a special showing of the Iron Horse. At noon they enjoyed box lunch at the Hollywood Bowl and spent the afternoon in other activities at the big amphitheatre. Included on the afternoon program were athletic exhibitions by Warren G. Slater and members of the Pasadena Y. M. C. A., entertainment numbers by Merle Watterman of the Hollywood "Y," and a talk, "Playing the Game," by "Dad" Elliott, football star of the early nineties.

WHITE'S MARKET CHANGES OWNERS

J. Herbert Smith Takes Over Business; Tom To Open Dryden Market

Tom White, for four years owner of the Glendale Grocerteria Market, announced today that he had sold his business to Seymour Smith, son of J. Herbert Smith, owner of the Glendale Grocerteria.

In making the announcement, Mr. White thanked his hundreds of customers for their patronage during the four years he has been in business. He also announced that he would open a new grocerteria and market on North Pacific avenue, at the corner of Dryden street, about next Saturday. In the new location Mr. White will have charge of both the grocery and meat departments, leasing out only the vegetable stand, he stated.

Injunction To Halt Sale of Ships Refused

the Pacific Mail's case, and Justice Hitz allowed each side half an hour's argument on this motion.

Coolidge Interested

President Coolidge has taken cognizance of the unprecedented bitterness of the shipping board row, and it is believed certain that some resignations will be called for before many days. The president has called upon Chairman T. V. O'Connor for a full report on the situation. O'Connor, with three other members of the board, favors sale of the liners to the Dollar interests with Commissioners Plummer, Thompson and Benson dissenting.

It is the contention of O'Connor and the majority that, in selling the ships to Dollar, the shipping board is merely carrying out the injunction to Congress to "get the government out of the shipping business as fast as possible. The minority contends that the vessels are being sold to Dollar for a fraction of their worth, and that the board accepted the least advantageous offer for them, rejecting a higher, although differently constituted, bid from the Pacific Mail lines, which now operate the ships.

As court convened three new affidavits, containing protests from widely separated interest against sale of the ships to the Dollar line, were filed by the Pacific Mail.

Bankers' Opinion

Several San Francisco bankers, including William H. Crocker, president of the Crocker National bank, were cited in the first affidavit as being opposed to the sale because "it would create a monopoly in Pacific coast shipping."

The Wells-Fargo and Union Trust are similarly opposed, the affidavit stated, on the ground that a monopoly would be created.

The second affidavit quoted Patrick Flynn, first pice-president of the International Seamen's union, as opposed to the sale because of Dollar's alleged unfairness to labor.

Newton W. Gilbert, former vice-governor general of the Philippines, now of New York, was quoted in the third affidavit as opposed to the sale, "because Dollar would have a monopoly on island shipping if he secured the ships."

QUARTETTE HELD FOR SHOP HOLDUP

Four Masked Men Enter Montrose Barber Parlor, Stick Up Customers

Four men, alleged to have held up and robbed patrons of "Jim's" barber shop, Montrose, at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, were captured by Glendale police and members of the sheriff's office yesterday and were lodged last night in the county jail.

Heavily armed and wearing masks, four bandits entered the barber shop operated by James Holt at Montrose, lined Holt and five patrons up against the wall and with two of the bandits keeping their victims covered with guns, the other two rifled pockets and looted the cash register.

More than $140 was obtained by the robbers.

Quartet Taken

Yesterday Holt dashed into headquarters station here and told police that the men who held up his shop were driving towards Glendale over Verdugo Canyon road. Sergeant Henderson and Detective Sergeant Blake went with Holt and arrested Ray Garten, William Jones of La Canada and Norman Smith of Cement, Okla., as they drove towards the city, leading a pair of mules behind their machine. The mules were owned by one of the trio, they told the police.

Yesterday afternoon James Smith, La Canada, was arrested at that place by Blake, Captain Haller and Deputy Sheriff Johnson, after the other three are said to have confessed to the holdup and to have implicated Smith.

The four men were turned over to Haller and Johnson of the sheriff's office last night.

Council May Delay In Filling Vacancy

withdrawal from the council, there will be three councilmen to elect in two years. Although Muhleman was elected for a four-year term, his successor, to be appointed, can serve only two years, under the city charter provisions.

In the meantime, until the fifth member is appointed, the council can conduct the business of the city with only four members, three composing a quorum and majority.

There is every indication that MacBain will be elected as mayor. He seems to be the logical man for the place under the circumstances, it was pointed out today.

Favor Gilhuly

Judging by expressions throughout the city, a large number of people seem to favor the appointment of Gilhuly as city councilman. His supporters point out that at a previous election, when two councilmen were elected, Gilhuly ran third in the race. Then, when a vacancy on the council occurred, he was, because of the fact that he was the third choice at the election, given the appointment.

Now, with Muhleman disqualified, it is pointed out by Gilhuly's friends, that he is in the "logical position" to be qualified for councilman, aside from his experience gained from having already served.

Friends of Muhleman are pressing his appointment to the council because of the fact that he received the second highest vote. They admit he is not eligible as an elector, and agree that, even if legal, it would not "look right" for him to receive an appointment until he is fully eligible—which will not be until next month. His friends declare that his long residence in the city, interrupted by the short period he was not a resident, together with the fact that he is an attorney, will make him a valuable member of the council.

Meeting this argument, those opposing Muhleman's appointment declare that he was a member of the board that drew up the city charter, that he should have known he was not eligible to office, and that, as an attorney with an office in Los Angeles, he cannot be free to give the time to the council position that it now demands.

Those opposing Muhleman declare that all members of the council should be prominently identified with Glendale affairs, and have their business connections here, as well as their homes.

It is pointed out that Dwight W. Stephenson was the last member of the council residing in Glendale and having his place of business in Los Angeles.

Puzzling Situation

The tangle caused by Muhleman's candidacy and "election" when he was not qualified under the city charter to be a candidate is causing a situation new to Glendale's officials and they admit that it is some cross-word puzzle.

In the meantime, friends of both Muhleman and Gilhuly are advancing numerous reasons why one should—or should not—get the appointment.

Girl Attempts Suicide When Lover Killed

SACRAMENTO, April 20.—Learning that her sweetheart, George L. Sage, 28, of Los Angeles, had been killed in an automobile accident near here this morning, Milo Linder, 25, of Sacramento, ran to a Sacramento dock and attempted to commit suicide by jumping into the river. She was stopped by a watchman.

Two Scheduled to Face Judge on Check Charge

L. L. Walton, Long Beach, was scheduled to be given a preliminary hearing before Police Judge F. H. Lowe this afternoon on a charge of issuing fictitious checks. Walton was arrested in Glendale several weeks ago through the cooperation of the Glendale Merchants' association and the police department, after he is alleged to have passed worthless checks totaling $96 on Glendale merchants.

W. H. Miller, Glendale, was also to be given a preliminary hearing on a similar charge this afternoon.

Trade With Glendale Merchants for Your Own Interest

There is an adage to the effect that you cannot eat your cake and have it, too, which is equivalent to saying that when you spend your money it is gone forever, but this old saying is not strictly according to the facts in all cases. There are instances where you can spend your money and have it, too.

Consider a composite housewife made up of all the housewives of Glendale and possessed of a weekly allowance for household expenses totalling that of all the housewives of Glendale. Call her Mrs. Glendale Housewife.

Now if Mrs. Glendale Housewife spends this allowance, which amounts to an enormous sum, out of town she certainly will not "have her cake." But if she spends it with Glendale merchants she will be "eating her cake and having it, too," for her money will stay in Glendale to be used for payrolls, for carrying on improvements and for making Glendale a richer, larger and better community, a consummation in which we are all interested.

Considering as one large sum the money spent by Glendale people in a week, it is easy to see the effect of withdrawing all this money from Glendale and also to see the result when it is spent at home. But the effect is the same, in proportion, when a few Glendale people, here and there, spend their money out of town. They are putting their substance definitely where they will never get any more good from it. When Glendale people trade with Glendale merchants they are eating their cake and having it, too. You spend your money but you spend it where it is going to return to you, if not directly, then in building a Greater Glendale.

PELICANS VS. FISHERMEN

NEWPORT BEACH, April 20.—The pelicans have come to town and are fishing off the Newport pier, to the consternation of human fishermen. There are fifteen or twenty in the flock and they are such experts at the sport that they are carrying off all the prizes in their capacious pouches. The awkward and ungainly birds float around on the surface of the water watching the business end of the lines cast down from the pier. At the first sign of a nibble they get busy and when a fish falls for the bait a pelican snaps him up, and the man at the other end of the pole has to haul in his unproductive line and begin all over again.

PLAN AERO REGATTA

SANTA BARBARA, April 20.—Plans for the second annual air regatta to be held by the Santa Barbara Aero club June 20 and 21 are being perfected. Announcement also has been made that a group of planes representing the Santa Barbara and Ventura clubs will "hop" to Mexico today. The fliers plan a four days' trip, visiting Ensenada while in the southern republic and also stopping at several of the Southern California fields en route.

FULLERTON DOCTOR HELD

FULLERTON, April 20.—Trapped by federal agents, Dr. Francis Coltrin, physician of this city, was arrested and held to answer in the federal court on a charge of violating the Harrison narcotic act. Bail is $5,000. Dr. Coltrin is alleged to have supplied a drug addict with twenty grains of a drug for which he was given $25 in marked bills.

AVOCADO THEFT CHARGED

SANTA ANA, April 20.—Charged with stealing avocados from Orange county groves and peddling them to grocerymen in Los Angeles county, D. A. Gomaska and Jose Garcia are in the Orange county jail following their arrest in Los Angeles. The men are thought to belong to a gang which for several weeks is alleged to have done a thriving business selling stolen fruit. The two men had about 360 pounds of avocados with them when they were arrested.

TAX RECORD BROKEN

SANTA BARBARA, April 20.—More than $2,000,000 will be collected in taxes by Santa Barbara county this year, the highest amount ever received. More than $1,300,000 had been collected before the second installment became due. Less than one-half of one per cent of the total amount due will be delinquent.

G. L. Prussing To Talk At Men's Club Banquet

G. L. Prussing, secretary of the safety council of the Union Oil Co., is to speak tomorrow night following the 6:30 o'clock dinner of the men's club at First Congregational church. His talk on the oil industry will be illustrated by motion pictures.

DRY GOODS SALES

NEW ORLEANS, April 20.—Department stores report their sales for the first half of April were exceptionally good so far as fancy goods, millinery, shoes, stockings, women's clothing and novelties were concerned, but that sales of staple goods were only fair.

England is buying more American textile machinery.

VALLEY FINANCE PURCHASES SITE

Mortgage Company Acquires East Broadway Land For New Office

By a deed just recorded the Valley Mortgage & Finance Co. has acquired title to property at 215 East Broadway, which will become the future permanent home of this thriving financial company. Negotiations for the purchase of this property have been in progress for several months. Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Whaley were the sellers and the consideration is authoritatively stated to be $60,000. The property consists of a lot with fifty feet of Broadway frontage, with a depth of 120 feet, alleys on side and rear. The building on the lot will be improved and modernized. The ultimate purpose of the company is said to be to erect a large building commensurate with the importance of the location. The company will occupy its present quarters until expiration of existing leases at the new location will permit its removal.

A. L. Baird, one of the original organizers and first president of the company, gave to his associates generous praise for the success that has followed the company from the start.

"In our secretary and treasurer, J. F. Lilly," said Mr. Baird, "we have a most capable executive whose long experience in the financial field has given him a grasp of business problems that has served our company well. Before coming to California, Mr. Lilly was for many years a high executive in one of the large banks of Colorado. His thirteen years in Glendale has made him thoroughly familiar with our local financial problems, and we have found his judgment sound and conservative."

Auto Finance Head

"Mr. Green, as head of our automobile finance department, has proven a happy choice for our company. Besides his activity as a very considerable investor in local business property, for many years Mr. Green conducted a prosperous local automobile sales agency, winning for himself by his own efforts well deserved success. His thorough familiarity with the automobile industry, and particularly with the problems of automobile finance, have contributed very largely to the success of his department of our company's affairs."

Mr. Baird, by reason of his large outside interests, devotes only a portion of his time to the company of which he is head, but keeps in close touch with its varied activities. This company, with offices in the court at 211 East Broadway, specializes in mortgages, trust deeds, real estate contracts, loans on automobiles, besides conducting a large general insurance business.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, April 20.—If the crops warrant, the Burbank plant of Libby, McNeill & Libby, will be operating full force from the opening to the closing of the season, officials of that company announced today. The plant will begin canning of apricots about June 25, and will continue through December 1, when the tomato crop will be completed. Approximately 300 women and more than 100 men will be given employment. While the local plant handled about 100 tons of peppers last season, the company plans to can from 800 to 1000 tons this year. Contracts for growing of peppers have been entered into with San Fernando valley growers, although some are shipped from Orange county and the San Joaquin valley.

Manager J. W. Charleville of the local Chamber of Commerce has received an invitation to attend the fifth annual industrial exposition of the harbor district, to be held at Long Beach April 22 to 27.

Recommendations of the city engineer's office will preclude all possibility of including funds to construct bridges across the Victory boulevard washes in the bridge bond issue to be voted on June 2, it was revealed today by O. J. Renfrew of the Greater San Fernando Valley association. The inadequate flood control facilities now existing in both Tujunga and Pacoima, he said, will prevent bridge building across the wash until after the channel carrying surplus water has been defined and constructed.

Work is progressing rapidly on assessment of the Burbank residence district and nearly half the city has already been completed, according to Mrs. Bessie Curry, field assessor. She began work March 1 and must be finished by June 1.

Local Pythians Plan For Delegates' Visit

Plans for entertaining delegations of Van Nuys, Burbank and Hollywood Knights of Pythias tomorrow night at the Knights of Pythias hall, corner of South Brand boulevard and Park avenue, have been completed by Glendale Lodge, No. 331, Knights of Pythias. A program will be presented and a banquet will be given in honor of the vistors. A delegation is also expected from Los Angeles. Important committee reports will be made during the business session.

OIL ACTIVITY

TULSA, Okla., April 20.—Owing to the slowing up of demand and lack of prospects for new producing areas, drilling activity in the oil fields around Winfield and Arkansas City, Kansas, is lessening.

LOS ANGELES

By Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—The maximum penalty for selling cigarettes to a minor was given Mrs. B. G. Elles of 1076 South Soto street by Police Judge Frederickson when he sentenced her to 180 days. Mrs. Elles, who has a shop at that address, was arrested several days ago with her son, Adolpho by Deputy City Prosecutor I. M. Gilbert for selling a package of cigarettes to Charles Spann, 17. The son's trial has been set for Tuesday.

Denial of published reports that a new revolution had broken out in Honduras was made today by Urbano Quesada, Honduran consul here whose office is at 130 South Broadway. Quesada stated that there has been no fighting in Honduras since the civil war ended last fall and that the country is now peaceful and prosperous.

Two hundred delegates to the Paramount international convention will arrive in Los Angeles from all parts of the world April 24. The meeting will be at the Ambassador hotel and will last five days. Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president of Famous Players-Lasky corporation, has announced that plans will be made to supply a program of the greatest pictures in the history of the company.

A petition signed by James Eades Howe, known as the "millionaire hobo" and a committee of fifteen, which demanded that unemployed persons in Los Angeles be put to work at once by the county at union wages and at their respective trades, was received yesterday by the board of supervisors. It was represented as a resolution coming from the Los Angeles County Unemployment league and stated that the committee would appear today before the supervisors to press the resolution.

BUILDING ACTIVITY

MINNEAPOLIS, April 20.—Prospective building activity in Minnesota and neighboring states is 42 per cent greater in valuation than a year ago, although seven of the eighteen reporting cities showed decreases.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

Copyright, D. Appleton & Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

Yes, thought Graham, the rest he knew, but she did not. She knew nothing of his suspicions of her, suspicions roused again and again by the remembrance of Philippa's bracelet; nothing of the tissue of lies he had woven to cover the fact of his presence in the darkened house; nothing of his theft of her bracelet; nothing of his surrender of her letter to Fitzpatrick into Flint's hands. And these things he must tell her; like Philippa he must wash his soul. So, standing before her, he told all, hiding nothing.

Evadne listened without a question or a single interruption. She had the gift of stillness. She was silent even when he had ended. Forever afterward he knew that he would have a keener feeling of sympathy for the culprit in the dock, awaiting the sentence of the judge.

Then she lifted her head and looked at him, still in silence. The tears in her deep Irish eyes seemed to have washed away the shadows which till now had filled them. Smiling, she held out her hands to him.

Later, Graham rememberd Philippa. Evadne, told of the girl's desire to see her, was impatient to go to her at once. "There is a story about the bracelets I want to tell her," she said. "There were twin sisters once in Ireland who loved one another more than sisters often do. One married a stranger and went away with him across the seas. And the one who stayed behind had two bracelets made, which, linked together, formed a necklet. And one she kept and the other she gave to her sister. Inside them both she had inscribed the quaint jingle of an old witch-woman who muttered a charm over them for her. But, in spite of the charm and prophecy the sisters never met again. We must be their great-grandchildren, Philippa and I."

Evadne left the room, and Graham, after philosophizing awhile on the strange overrulings of Fate, which men call coincidences, let his mind go back to the night of the murder. He reset the scene—the one lamp, the glowing fire, Hannibal Hurst huddled across the desk, the small white dog on guard. He made a mental note to tell Flint about finding the dog in the closet when he made a clean breast of his own connection with the affair. He recalled the pen in the dead man's hand, and the charred fragment of his last, uncompleted will, and wondered, as he did so, why Flint had seemingly made so little of what he would have considered so important a clue. He saw again old Denis standing by his head master's side, the slow tears running down his furrowed cheeks while he uttered his pathetic apology for the dead man. He heard his wild denunciation of Evadne as he pointed to the bloodstains on her sleeve. Had he really believed her guilty? Graham wondered, or had his accusation been caused by jealous hatred of her? or had he been trying to divert suspicion from someone else? Had he known that Estelle and a man, presumably Von Eulen, had been in the library that night? What, he wondered, was Flint doing along all these lines? Flint, to be sure, had put all the clues into his hands, but he had an aggravating way of leaving him to draw his own conclusions—training his mind, he called it. The question was: Did the deductions of Flint's trained mind march with those of his own untrained one? As he himself saw it, every indication, of course, pointed to— But suddenly he was on his feet, every thought of Hannibal Hurst's murderer forgotten—Evadne stood in the doorway, ready to accompany him to Philippa's bedside.

"Before we start, I must give you back your bracelet," Graham reminded her.

She held out her arm and he clasped it on her wrist with fingers that trembled.

"I am glad to get rid of it," he said. "There is an evil spirit in it. Whenever I was surest that you had no knowledge of the murder, it had a nasty way of whispering 'and what about me?'"

"That was the witch-woman's charm working," Evadne said seriously. "She put a spell on the bracelets which made them hurtful to all except their true owners. Being Irish, I believe in spells, you see." A hint of laughter lighted her eyes.

"Even a prosaic American has to believe in them, too, when he feels one being woven about himself," he returned.

"You have witch-women in America, too, then?"

"Yes, Ireland has sent us over one or two of her young ones. Witches have to begin young, haven't they?"

"I never saw a witch, so I can't say. What are they like?"

"They are the most beautiful women in the world. Their hair is dark and soft as the night shadows in a summer garden; their eyes hold all the mystery and wonder of the world; and their smile is like the opening of a flower."

"America has poets as well as witches."

"Not poets, only lovers. Shall we walk?" Graham added in a different tone. "It is not far."

The streets were gay and crowded. As they stood for a moment on the curb, waiting for a lull in the rush of automobiles, Marian Kingsbury passed. She caught sight of Graham, and leaning forward, waved her hand to him smilingly from the window of her car. It was the first time he had seen her since their break—a break which she made several attempts to mend. He laughed now to himself to think how hot with anger his heart had been that night. Now, as he raised his hat in response to her greeting, he lifted his voice in benediction. "Heaven bless you, my good angel!" he called.

Evadne looked at him in astonishment.

"That is the woman who I thought for an instant had wrecked my life," he laughed. "In reality she has made it worth living. It is thanks to Miss Kingsbury that I happened into the Fleur de Lys restaurant that night and lost my overcoat and Philippa's bracelet; it is thanks to Miss Kingsbury that I went in search of it, and found adventure; it 's thanks to Miss Kingsbury that I met you; that—"

But Evadne, the elusive, had, laughing, slipped away.

When, a few minutes later, they stood together beside Philippa's bed, it seemed to Graham that they had come too late. But, in a moment, as if feeling his gaze upon her, the girl opened her eyes.

"I'm here, witch-girl, and I've brought Evadne," he said.

Evadne knelt down beside her. "Look," she whispered, linking Philippa's bracelet with her own. "See what the letters mean together. They say Amor. It is the old prophecy, Philippa, 'Love will come if me you keep.'"

"I lost it," murmured Philippa. "Love comes to you, not to me. I'm glad now."

She motioned to Graham to clasp the necklet about Evadne's throat, and lay for a moment looking at the green stones she had loved. "They don't sparkle wickedly any more; she isn't a wicked, green-eyed witch like me," she said in something of her old whimsical tone.

"I won't have my witch calling herself names, she is my dear, darling witch," protested Graham.

Philippa smiled. "Say it again," she whispered.

"My darling, darling witch," repeated Graham brokenly.

Her eyes closed; the little smile which broke Evadne's heart to see still lingering on her lips. Then suddenly she roused and spoke quite clearly. "Are the stars waiting?" she asked.

Evadne threw back the curtains. "I think every one of them is there; I never saw so many. They have all come out to meet you," she said.

"All the white souls—that's nice of them," Philippa murmured.

Her eyes held Graham's for a long moment. "In Zeit and Ewigkeit," she breathed.

"Kiss her," whispered Evadne, "kiss her quickly, while she knows."

Little Philippa was laid to rest; life resumed its normal course; and one morning Graham looked up Flint at his official quarters. He found him seated at a table gazing abstractedly at a collection of finger-high manikins which he was moving about with apparent aimlessness.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

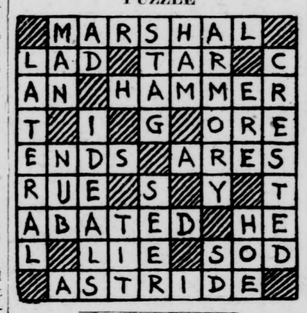
SOLUTION OF SATURDAY'S PUZZLE



Christian Endeavorers To Elect New Officers

Election of officers will be held Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at the business meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of Tropico Presbyterian church. Miss May Sullivan is president and will be in charge.

President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia, one of the world's most eminent scholars and professors, is the son of a blacksmith.

ATWATER CITIZENS TO URGE NEW BRIDGE

Representatives of District to Meet With Supervisors In Conference At County Courthouse Today

Upon the outcome of a conference to be held late this afternoon depends very largely whether or not new ornamental concrete bridges, adequate for the traffic needs of the thoroughfares, will be built at Glendale boulevard and Fletcher drive over the Los Angeles river.

Representatives of virtually every city in the San Fernando valley and of foothill communities in the San Gabriel valley will meet with the county Board of Supervisors late today to ask for half a million dollars of county money to assist in building the two big bridges.

In the event that the supervisors act favorably on the request for bridge funds it is believed no further delay in getting a Los Angeles city bond issue on the June ballot, to cover the remainder of the cost, will be occasioned.

Bridges Are Needed

Supervisors representing the districts most affected by the bridge projects stand pledged to vote for county aid in building the spans. Both Supervisor Henry Wright of this district and Supervisor Cogswell, who represents Pasadena and cities of the San Gabriel valley, have supported completion of a through highway from San Bernardino to the sea. Bridges at Glendale boulevard and Fletcher drive are necessary links in this highway plan, it is pointed out, and the supervisors have, on several occasions, pledged their aid specifically to these projects.

Montaville Flowers, representing Pasadena and Monrovia, will make the request before the supervisors. He will be backed up by the presence of more than a score of prominent citizens of the county, there to speak for their respective communities. Paul E. Lipscomb, secretary-treasurer of the Atwater Improvement association, will speak for Atwater Park.

The meeting before the supervisors today is the outgrowth of a session held in Glendale last Thursday when seventeen cities were represented at an informal highway confab at the invitation of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. At that time it was decided to make the request for bridge funds upon the county supervisors.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE FOR YOUNGSTERS

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

Running Across

Word 1. A large bird of prey. In the picture.
Word 4. Arms and legs.
Word 6. Public park where animals are kept in captivity.
Word 7. The money and goods settled on a bride when she marries.
Word 8. A fay, sprite or elf.

Running Down

Word 2. A southwestern state.
Word 3. One who works hard or labors.
Word 5. To cut down with a scythe or machine.

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

Deny Crossing To Close

Any intention to close the grade crossing at Atwater avenue over the Pacific Electric right-of-way is denied in communications from the traffic department of the railroad, according to officers of the Atwater Improvement association who have prosecuted a rigid investigation into rumors that the crossing was to be closed.

Following denial of reopening of Gardena crossing, just over the line in Glendale, rumors spread throughout the district that Atwater avenue also was to be torn up and traffic prohibited to cross the railroad tracks.

Inquiries were immediately made by Secretary P. E. Lipscomb of the Improvement association. Letters were directed to the State Railroad commission, the Pacific Electric railway and to the Los Angeles city engineer.

"There is apparently no thought on the part of the Pacific Electric to close the Atwater crossing," Mr. Lipsomb said. "We have assurance that no such action is contemplated, although we are continuing our investigation in an effort to find what gave rise to the rumors."

Bledsoe Will Speak

Benjamin F. Bledsoe, candidate for mayor of Los Angeles, will speak to voters of Atwater Park on Thursday night, April 23. He will be the guest at a mass meeting of citizens at the Atwater grammar school on that night. Judge Bledsoe will outline his campaign platform, dwelling particularly on matters of direct importance to the Atwater district. All voters and property owners in the district are invited to attend the meeting.

Told Wonders Of State In Letters Years Ago

spired by the beauty of the Green Verdugo Hills and valley mesas, and enjoyed the friendly, hospitable atmosphere of the thriving little village. Impressed with the natural beauties of the golden west, and confident of the bright promises of the future, Mrs. Beers wrote countless California booster letters, which were published in eastern papers and enjoyed by hosts of her friends and others.

Writing has always been a hobby with Mrs. Beers. She has written poems, short stories and sketches, published in The Chicago Inter-Ocean, Rural New Yorker and other papers and magazines. Only recently she wrote more serious sketches, compiled in booklet form under the title "Flashlights."

Mrs. Beers is a member of the First Methodist church, and maintains an active interest in denominational affairs.

Gifts Received

Mrs. Beers and her relatives and guests spent a most delightful informal afternoon Saturday. She was the recipient of many flowers and greetings. Among the flowers was a basket of beautiful flowers from the women of First Methodist church.

During the afternoon each one present was asked to give a childhood reminiscence, an anecdote, poem or song. Mrs. Beers gave several original poems and presented those present with copies of her late booklet.

Tea and birthday cake were served by Mrs. Reynolds, assisted by her daughter, Miss Helen Reynolds. There were present Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Reynolds, E. D. Whitmore of Binghamton, N. Y., Mesdames Julina Hayes, Zilpha A. Parker, Della R. Stone, Sarah Ellen Plannette, Dominic Minnie, George M. Walton, Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, Mrs. Beers. An interesting feature of the affair was asking each one his native state, revealing that there were eight born in Pennsylvania; four in New York; one in Vermont; one in Michigan; one in California, and one in Germany.

The guests were interested in an heirloom, a flesh fork made by Oliver Hale and used by Mrs. Beers' grandmother to turn meat before the great open fire. Saturday night Mrs. Beers' birthday was celebrated with a family dinner at the Kenneth road home.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

BANANAS!

I have an inquiry from Miss C. as to whether I consider the banana a fit fruit to eat.

Why, woman, from some points of view the banana is one of the fittest fruits we have! BUT—it must be a thoroughly ripened banana. The only reason bananas are in disrepute (aside from the popular song about them) is that they have been eaten in an unripe state and usually not thoroughly masticated.

Bananas are thoroughly ripe only when the skin is thin and is turning black. That is the time when you can usually buy them cheaper because from this point on they begin to become too soft and over-ripe.

When unripe, bananas are indigestible because they have a large proportion of starch and most raw starch is difficult to digest. When ripened, this starch is changed into a sugar that is easily digested. In fact, thoroughly ripened bananas are so easily digested that in a certain rare diseases of children, known as Celiac disease, in which there is a lack of the ability to digest carbohydrates, bananas can be used as the sole carbohydrate food; on this the children thrive, according to a children's specialist whom I heard discuss this question at New York Academy of Medicine.

Thoroughly ripened bananas can be given to babies as soon as any pureed fruits are given to them, (about the seventh month). The best way to puree them is to pass them through a colander and then beat. But remember, they must be the ripe ones.

Bananas are of value chiefly because of their high percentage of easily digested sugar. However, they have some of all of the known vitamins. They are not high in the mineral elements and for this reason they can be taken with profit by those suffering with kidney disease (Kellogg).

With other fruits, with the exception of plums, cranberries and prunes, bananas have an alkaline reaction in the body, which is desirable, as our diets should be predominant in the alkaline forming foods.

A good sized banana, five and one-half ounces in weight, has 100 calories of food value, five of which are protein, six fat and 89 carbohydrates. The protein must be of a good quality because in the tropical countries, during the six months of the rainy season in which the bananas ripen, they furnish almost the exclusive diet of the natives.

The only way unripened bananas can be eaten with profit, is baked without the skins, or mashed and stewed with a little water and flavored with lemon juice and sugar. The ripened bananas can be baked in the skins, but should be baked quickly and only until the juice begins to flow. If baked too long they become tough and dark and lose their flavor.

There is a banana flour which is made by drying and grinding the mature but unripe fruit. This made into muffins or cake is very digestible and highly nutritious. It is said that Stanley while traveling in Central Africa depended upon the banana flour as his staple food. This flour can be made into gruels also.

When ripe bananas are dried in the sun, without the skins, they are known as banana figs. They are palatable when cooked into sauces.

Yes! We can have bananas. Ripe bananas.

Celery Cream Soup: (Without Stock). Cut the leaves and tough stalks from a head of celery and put them into a saucepan with one quart of cold water, a tiny piece of bay leaf and two large peeled and chopped onions; let come to the boil and simmer for one hour. There should be about a pint of the liquid left. Add to this one pint of sweet milk, again bring to the boil, then strain through a wide-meshed sieve, pressing through as much of the vegetables as possible. Return it to the pot, add one-half cup of brown rice and let boil gently for five minutes, then stir the soup into one slightly-beaten egg in a tureen and let stand two minutes, stiring steadily, before serving.

Baked Sole: Clean the fish and split lengthwise. Let stand in a cool place for 25 minutes in one tablespoon of lemon juice mixed with one-half teaspoon of Worcestershire Sauce and one teaspoon of onion juice (this amount for every two pounds of the fish). Then sprinkle generously with buttered bread crumbs, dot with still more bits of butter, and place in a pan containing a little hot water. Bake in a medium oven for 25 minutes and serve.

Apple Tapioca: Soak three-quarters of a cup of pearl tapioca or one-half cup of minute tapioca in water to cover, for one hour. Then drain, add two and one-half cups of boiling water and a pinch of salt, and place in the upper part of a double boiler; let the water in the lower part boil briskly till the tapioca is clear and transparent. Now slice six pared and cored apples into a baking dish, and then add two tablespoons of lemon juice and one cup of granulated sugar to the cooked tapioca and turn it at once over the apples. Slip the dish into a medium oven and let bake till the apples are tender—about 30 minutes. Serve with sweet, thin cream or top-milk. (Note Peach Tapioca is made in the same way, with either fresh or canned peaches substituted for the apples.)

Cottage Cheese Salad: Season cottage or cream cheese with a little chopped cooked red sweet pepper (or canned pimentos) and form the cheese into small balls. Place these on crisp lettuce on individual salad plates, sprinkle chopped walnut-meats over all, and serve with a dab of Mayonnaise Dressing.

Tomorrow—Answers to Inquiries

Columbus

Plans are being discussed by Columbus P.-T. A. for holding a summer playground at the school, for which an instructor and equipment will be furnished. Members are also anticipating a May day card party, Friday, May 1, at the home of Mrs. John Torrey. The affair will be for the benefit of the association. At the recent meeting pupils in the kindergarten demonstrated their daily routine work. Ethel Kausen, a Pearl Keller pupil, danced, and Margaret Turner gave readings.

Cerritos

Cerritos P.-T. A. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the school, with Mrs. A. L. Kent, president, in charge. Celebration of the sixteenth birthday of the association will be held. Mrs. H. V. Henry will conduct a roundtable. Second grade pupils will furnish entertainment. Musical numbers will also be included in the program. Mothers of second grade pupils will be hostesses. The nominating committee will be elected during the business meeting. Mrs. Kent announces that Mr. Loper, manager of the Gateway theatre, will give a benefit performance at his theatre for Cerritos P.-T. A. on June 1, when feature and special pictures will be shown.

CARPET BUSINESS

KANSAS CITY, April 20.—Floor-covering sales by local dealers are now running 25 to 30 per cent above those of last year. There is a large call for carpet to cover entire rooms and this has given a general impetus to the business. Linoleums are in good demand.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

PARTED HAIR

We are apparently going in for a period of extreme and demure simplicity, an inevitable reaction to the elaborate artificiality of past several years. These periods take years to come and go, the changes coming so gradually that only those who are looking out for them notice them at all.

But if you watch, you'll see for yourself. A year ago there was a hint of the Directoire in dresses and coats, the merest hint, such as puff sleeves and clinging skirts, and a series of little capes on some ultra smart coats. This spring the Directoire influence is felt more strongly. Now comes a fad for parting the hair in the middle, and brushing it very simply, wearing it straight when it is naturally so, suppressing waves when they are too pronounced.

We are going back to a certain simplicity of style; not real simplicity, we may even go that far but it won't be for many years. We are going to an artificial simplicity, exactly like that of the Directoire days, which were simple compared to the period shortly before them. And parted hair is one of the pleasant signs.

Parted hair is generally very becoming. If you can stand it at all, you will find it makes the face look much younger. It makes it seem a little longer, too, and more slender—therefore the style of all styles for the chubby, round-faced woman.

If the face is already too long or too thin, place the parting slightly to one side or the other, this is a more mature style, but it gives a chance to hide a high forehead, and to bring more hair out over thin cheeks. You will have to experiment to find which side the parting should be, and in doing so, you will be astonished at the difference between your right and your left profile. The hair will look most severe where the parting comes, therefore it should be on the side of your best profile.

C. K. D.—The dark circles around your eyes show there is some internal disturbance. Loss of sleep will produce such a condition but it is temporary, and the circles go as soon as the person has become rested again. Circles that appear over and over again should not be ignored, and a doctor should be consulted about them.

This Is a Good Style

Laura B. S.—If you used peroxide every day on your skin it would make it very dry and harsh, and there is no reason why you should do this to attain a clear skin.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, after which five-hundred was played. Prizes were won by Mrs. James Sutherland and H. Tweet, high score, and Mrs. Tweet and L. O. Carlisle, consolations. The club will meet May 2 with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Francis, 1014 Tyler street. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Tweet, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. James Sutherland of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Francis, Dan Duffeney, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. T. Burt, Lucille Gratias and Walter Gratias.

Hold Box Social

N. P. Banks Social club, Sons of Veterans camp No. 22, and auxiliary No. 7 will hold a box social and entertainment tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock at Sparr Heights Community building. Jock McGill, the "Happy Scot" in full regalia, will be present. Mr. McGill plays over KFI. Music for dancing will be furnished for the occasion by Johnson's Jazz orchestra. An invitation has been extended to all patriotic organizations and their friends to attend. The women are requested to bring boxes to be auctioned.

Beach Outing

A group of girls from Glendale High school chaperoned by Miss Helmer, Mrs. Bassett and Miss Cornelius had a wiener roast recently at Pacific Palisades, Santa Monica. They played games during the afternoon and some of them climbed the Palace rock. In the party were: Leanore Lewis, Lucille Gratias, Dorothy Wooley, Ray Pardeau, Mary Slick, Alice and Ernest Ogelby, Edith Palutzke, Arolla Watts, Florence Louer and Margaret Andrews.

Shower Honoree

The approaching marriage of Miss Grace Crampton to Roy A. Wehe of San Francisco, has been the incentive for numerous social affairs. Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Roy J. Hinchcliff of 1204 Yale avenue, Claremont, entertained with a luncheon honoring Miss Crampton. Mrs. Hinchcliff was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. W. M. Kimball of Glendale. Artistic decorative features were used for the luncheon table. Sweetpeas in gay shades and baby breath were used in profusion throughout the Hinchcliff home. Suspended over the luncheon table was a large white wedding bell with showers of smilax and natural orange blossoms. Placecards were pictures of a bride surrounded by a frame of orange blossoms. Covers were arranged for eighteen. The surprise of the afternoon was a shower of linen towels presented to the honoree by Florence and Jean Louise Hinchcliff. Games formed pleasant diversion for the afternoon. Guests were: Misses Grace Crampton, Jeannette Herrick and Martha Cox, Mesdames J. J. Onstott, F. J. Kuntzner, J. T. Crampton, A. C. Shively, N. C. Paine, A. B. Moule, G. H. Roe, W. C. Barry, T. G. McDougall, C. R. Hallett, J. Roger Bentley, Roy L. Kent, E. D. Yard and Myrtle Brown.

For Mrs. Braden

Mrs. Sallie C. Braden, district deputy grand matron, was honored Saturday night upon her official visit to Glendale Chapter, No. 422, Order of Eastern Star, at Masonic temple, South Brand boulevard. A banquet was served at 6:30 o'clock. Sweetpeas were used to decorate the tables and favors were nut baskets in pastel shades with sweetpeas on the handles. Mrs. Nellie C. Jennings, worthy matron, presided. Mrs. Braden was presented with an encrusted gold candlestick by Mrs. Jennings, representing the chapter. Mrs. Braden gave a short talk on lodge work. Committees in charge of the banquet were: Misses Edna Moore, chairman; Grace Jennings, Margaret Lambie and Mrs. Georgia Lambie, favors; Mrs. Flynn, chairman Mrs. Castlen, Mrs. Margaret McCaughna, Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. Seifert, decorations; Mrs. Freda M. Augustine, chairman, Mrs. Lynd, Mrs. Nagle, Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. Henrietta Murray, banquet committee.

Meeting Held

The Loyal Temperance Legion held a meeting Saturday morning at the home of the president, Miss Zora Glassey at 460 West California avenue. During the business meeting members voted a donation for the Old Women's Home of Southern California. The program was in charge of Eleanor Jahns. Eleanor Bradley read "The Bluebird," John Olson sang a pirate song, Edith Palutzke played a piano selection "Arbutus," and Zora Glassey sang "Wanted, A Harp Like the Angels Play." John Olson led in the singing of yells. A. E. Cook, missionary from India, will be present at the meeting next Saturday and give a talk.

Hear Miss Rouzee

Miss Winifred Rouzee, Bible student and lecturer, who has been taking several weeks' rest, will resume her lectures at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. A large crowd will be present to greet her. Miss Rouzee speaks under the auspices of the Bible department of the club. Mrs. Charles H. Temple, curator, again invites the public to attend. There is no admission charge of any kind. Tea will be served after the lecture.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. S. Schlotzhauer of 1307 Stanley avenue honored their daughter Ronelda recently on her sixteenth birthday, entertaining a company of her friends informally. Guests were Mary Anderson, Marjorie Turner, Marguerite Boelter, Marjorie Borwick, Lyneete Hezmalhalch, Simon Ramseyer, Spencer Boelter, Horace Boelter, Oswald Higgs, Harold Jarnagin, Paul Taggart, Nole Patterson.

SHATTER RECORDS IN SUNDAY RACES

Drivers Set New Marks At Culver City As Cars Whirl Around Bowl

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

All world records for distances up to 50 miles fell by the wayside yesterday afternoon at Culver City Speedway when sixteen driving demons with heavy feet, steel nerves and equally steady heads, tooled their chariots around the big bowl in the five sprints on the program. Leon Duray took the first 25-mile sprint, Pete De Paolo copped honors in the second sprint, Pietro Bordino gathered in the prize money for the third event, Bob McDonagh finished out in front for the fourth event, and Harry Hartz won the main event, a 50-mile grind.

Tommy Milton, speedway favorite, was shut out in the first and final races. He gave Duray a hard battle, and forced the winner to turn the tureen at the rate of 134.3 miles per hour. In the final race, Milton failed to finish within the money, engine trouble putting his chariot out of the fracas.

It was in the second race that the fastest time was made, when Harry Hartz pressed Pete De Paolo for first place. De Paolo averaged 136.7 miles per hour for the first fifteen miles, but when he piled up such a lead that it was impossible for Hartz to overtake him, the Italian eased up. His average for the 25 miles was 135 miles per hour. Comer finished third.

Eleven in Final

Bordino took the lead early in the third race and was never headed. He rattled around the boards in his big Fiat at the rate of 133.4 miles per hour. The real battle in this race was for second place between Bennett Hill and Jerry Wonderlich, Hill finishing third. Doc Shattuc, who finished fourth in the first race, took the lead in the fourth race, only to lose it by the daring driving of Bob McDonagh in the last few laps. Elliott slipped into second place several times but the Kentucky medico crossed the line ahead of him. The winner's average was 130.4 miles.

Eleven cars started in the final heat, and the winner's average was 135.2 for the fifty miles. Earl Cooper provided the thrills of the afternoon when he skidded into the fence on the thirty-eighth lap while trying to pass Harry Hartz. Hartz took the lead in the third lap, lost it once, regained it in the twenty-eighth lap and then stayed out in front. Milton went out in the latter part of the race. Duray dropped out in the fourth. Bordino gave up in the twenty-second lap when engine trouble developed. Pete De Paolo and Cooper gave Hartz a battle for first place throughout the race.

Walker Declines Bout With Shade In East

NEW YORK, April 20.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, declared today he would decline to fight Dave Shade, challenger, in a New York ring in spite of the fact that he accepted reinstatement here on condition that he give Shade a shot at the title.

Walker, who leaves for California Thursday, wants to meet Harry Greb here June 19, but negotiations have come to a standstill because the local commission has insisted that Shade be given the first shot.

American Runners Set New Records In Japan

TOKIO, April 20.—Paddock and Murchison, American runners now touring the Orient, will ask the American Athletic union to accept the new world's records made by them in their last appearance in Japan, it was learned today. Paddock ran 175 meters in 18 4-5 seconds while Murchison covered 120 meters in 13 flat. It is considered likely, however, that the A. A. U. may not recognize these records because a strong wind aided the runners.

Thousands of girls in England use motorcycles for weekend touring.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Near panic prevailed in metropolitan wagering circles—or half of those circles—when the news was published that Babe Ruth must undergo an operation for intestinal abscesses and may not get into the lineup until May.

What, the panic stricken want to know, is the status of their bets that the Babe would set a new home run record this season? Huge sums have been wagered on paper, to say nothing of the contents of ten or eleven cigar stores, as many hat emporiums and the cargoes of a half dozen of the ships on rum row, on the prowess of Ruth with the bat this season.

Now, 95 per cent of those who bet that the Bambino would set a new record, are demanding that the bets be declared revoked, rescinded, annulled—anything, so that they won't have to pay. Meanwhile the wiseacres who bet against Ruth are making plans to spread their winnings, smoke their cigars, wear their new hats and drink their hooch.

The writer has received numerous appeals for a decision that may give some relief to the heavy investors who were so confident of their hero's success after they read that he had hit the ball farther in St. Petersburg, Fla., than any other human ever smote a baseball in that state.

Alas, the writer can offer the pro-Ruth bettors little consolation. There is no precedent for declaring the wagers off because Rhth didn't start the season, unless that contingency was specifically provided for when the bet was made. It is expected that ultimately he will start the season and the man who bet he would make a new record will have to take his chances on what Ruth does when he does start. Had the Babe been suspended for a period in midseason the bets would have stood. The same rule applies now—unless, of course, Ruth should be out for the entire season, in which case there would be room for an argument.

Off-hand it seemed to be a foolish thing to wager that Ruth would better a record which he made under the most favorable of circumstances. But such is the blind adoration of the followers of this hero of the ash and leather that hundreds went in over their heads, figuring the Babe was set for the greatest season of his career. They were all hopped up on reports sent north by publicity men following Ruth in the south.

The home run king now has lost something like two per cent of his season and it looks as if that figure would be run up considerably before he is in condition to play ball again. He gave his stomach an awful rumble in the recent off season and if he doesn't desist it may not be long before he is robbed even of the chance of trying for a batting record.

Meanwhile, his betting followers shed bitter tears over their disappearing chances. Some of the more thrifty of them already are seeking settlement on a basis of so much off for cash payment at once. That would seem to be about the best way out for them.

There is a player in the American League who is likely to hit the ball as far as Babe Ruth this season, though he may not make as many home runs. He is Simmons of the Athletics. Look out for that young man's driving power. When he gets under a ball, or against it, he can hit right on the heels of the Babe. He can't line 'em out as often because he doesn't seem to have the eye and the centering power on the ball. But he hit a fly at Fort Myers that was probably the longest—certainly one of the longest—ever made in Florida.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 20.—What do you think of a fighter weighing 129 pounds who has knocked out every champion from flyweight to heavyweight in the past ten years

This distinction belongs to Tim Healy, of Brooklyn, a familiar figure in places where prominent battlers foregather for workouts. Incidentally it might be asserted that the case of Tim Healy demonstrates that most fighters have big hearts.

Tim got the idea that he would make a great fighter and repaired to a gym where the good ones go. He attracted no attention until he began pestering the champions in training to put on the gloves with him.

He came in for a lot of good natured kidding and at length the champions began to accommodate him, and true to the precepts of pro boxers, he came to no harm.

Now Healy travels from gym to gym where champions are and challenges every one to a fight. After a show of reluctance, Healy's demand is met and the bout usually ends with the champion on the floor and Healy standing over him pleading for him to get up and take one more real sock.

Everyone from Harry Wills down has been "put to sleep" by the earnest little boxer who is one of those lads who eats fight, sleeps fight, talks fight, until the strain proves too much.

To meet Healy's demand for formally arranged bouts with champions, Mel Cook, Eddie Cannonball Martin's manager, adopted the idea of having matches arranged by telegram and then at the last moment having them called off because of tonsilitis, cold feet and so forth. Healy thus is kept happy and no one is hurt. His public appearances are confined to smokers and benefits where his unique bag punching feats elicit roars of laughter and thunders of applause.

TURNS IN SHUTOUT

Friends, fellow citizens, pin back your ears. A Cardinal pitcher turns in a shutout. The young man is Leo Dickers, who held the Cubs to four hits while the Cards made merry with Alexander, score 6 to 0.

HOMERS HELP OUT

Homers by Wilson and Kelly and the laudable pitching by McQuillan brought the Giants down to the wire in front of the Dodgers, 4 to 3. The deision carried the Giants' streak to four straight.

PIRATES DEFEATED

The rampant Reds sent in another decision by way of contributing to their league leadership, taking a running jump on Yde in the seventh and beating the Pirates, 6 to 2.

UPSETS COMMON FOR FIRST WEEK

Cleveland And Cincinnati Surprise Experts By Leading In Race

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Cleveland and Cincinnati, generally rated well off the pace by the dear old experts, have proceeded to confound the great minds by running ahead of the field through the first week of the major league races. Some one, it seems, has been feeding the Indians and Reds raw meat and the rest of the pack has been handed theirs burned to a crisp. Today the major league races look like a laundry ticket with the Pirates and Tigers, floundering in the second divisions.

Both the early traders have earned the places, however. The Reds have got excellent pitching from Rixey, Donahue and Luque and averaged more than ten hits a game over the first five played. You can't beat that with a horse whip. The Indians also have obtained surprising results from several of their pitchers but it must be conceded that the club has won the majority of its games from the Browns, who beat themselves or at least gave the matter a good old college try. They made thirteen errors, no less, in the first four games, being approached in this respect only by the Reds, who made eleven, and the Pirates, who obliged with ten.

That is one answer to the Pirates' present position; the other is bad pitching from a good staff. The Giants, in second place, got away running at the expense of the Braves who are hopeless, and of the Dodgers, who are feeling the temporary loss of Grimes, who held out so long that he will not be ready for some days.

Hit Home Runs

The Cubs have had hitting particularly in the matter of home runs of which they have made eight in seven games. The Killifer entry, however, has lacked the benefit of consistent pitching and some of their victories have resulted from scores that might have been made by the annual grocers' picnic. The Cards lost three of their first four to the Reds, but broke out in a rash hitting against the Cubs and now top both leagues with a record of sixty-seven hits in six games. A lot of this has been wasted as expected by indifferent pitching.

In the American league, the Red Sox have failed to step out of character. The Sox contributed much to the early speed of the Athletics, who won three out of four and then took the Senators in the first game. Inspired hitting is the answer, the Athletics gettiing fifty-nine hits, including six homers in their first five games. The Senators, running third, have not hit their stride as yet, but were good enough to beat the Yankees, who have hit nothing. Both will do better when their pitchers begin to function.

BASEBALL

The Pasadena Paints defeated the Gene Murphy crew, 9 to 6, yesterday at Brookside park. The Painters gathered twelve hits off Wasco, while Perez was touched for nine hits by the shirt makers.

Santa Monica fell before the pitching of Gomes, and the Crown City crew won, 10 to 3, yesterday, at the beach city. Gomes allowed only seven hits and struck out six men.

A sacrifice hit in the seventh by Wilkins accounted for the only score made in the Bell Merchants-L. A. Colored Giants game yesterday at Bell, the Merchants winning 1 to 0. Each team gathered four hits.

The Gilmore Oilers had a field day at the bat yesterday, beating the Pan-American Petroleum Co., 13 to 1. The Oilers got twenty hits off Hall. Mike File fanned ten.

Ten innings were necessary to decide the Montebello-L. A. Grays game at Montebello yesterday, the home-town team winning, 8 to 7.

VII—Reducing Hints

Many athletes have trouble reducing, or making weight, especially boxers. They have to do unlimited road work, take turkish baths, wear heavy sweaters, and spend much time on the rubbing table. Often they have to forfeit much money.

When such athletes are able to control their appetites and eat natural foods, of which there is always a plenty, and practice natural mastication, which requires patience and much thought, they will find that they can control their weight at will. They will also find that their strength will increase, and be able to raise or lower their weight without exercise.

As food well masticated does not form fat in the quantity that it will when it is not well chewed, anyone following this natural system closely will be able to engage in hard labor or athletic activity, and never know what it is to have a soreness of the muscles, for the simple reason that the person will not consume any more food than the blood calls for.

Keep the muscles in perfect tone, and muscles that are in this condition will not tear loose or be subject to the effects of a tearing strain. They seem to be unusually elastic and can contract with lightening-like rapidity, giving the athletes the cat-like appearance when they go into action.

It is only reasonable to believe that an impure blood stream cannot build up the muscle tissues with pure material. So, if an athlete will consider the difference between running himself to death to make the lungs expel the poisons in his blood stream, and leisurely taking his time and enjoy his food, he will probably choose the latter method, and his running and training will not be in vain. He will feel more like taking the exercises his trainer wants him to, being able to run any distance he chooses and he will not become exhausted as easily as before, if at all.

Athletes using this system of diet never need to have any fear of going stale. Muscles seem to be tireless, and build up quickly after the most strenuous exercise. Four or five hours sleep will completely refresh the body. Exhaustive experiments on myself and other athletes, have proven that, too much food and not too much exercise, is the cause of going stale.

Dawes Lashes Rules For Veto In Senate

BOSTON, April 20.—Rules of the United States Senate which allow filibustering were lashed in no uncertain terms by Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, speaking to the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

"Any one of the ninety-six senators," said the vice-president, "under the Senate rules has far greater power than the veto power of the president."

Total resources of all banks in the Philippines amount to $120,660,000.

Ruth Out of Game Until Next Month

NEW YORK, April 20.—Although Babe Ruth was reported today as steadily improving at St. Vincent's hospital, there was little hope expressed that he would recover from the effects of his illness and recent operation to return to the Yankees before the first week in May. The Big hitter's recovery, it was said, was being retarded by worry over his team's performances in recent games.

REDISTRICT PLAN SOLONS' BIG ISSUE

Separate Business of Each House Done; Exchanges Now In Order

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
Special to the Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, April 20.—Both houses of the California Legislature wound up their separate business today and began consideration of measures sent across from the opposite chamber.

The budget of bills passed by the Senate and Assembly would take columns of explanation. And in a way they are secondary to the big question now concerning Los Angeles and the cow counties.

Legislative action on reapportionment popped up in the Senate Thursday afternoon and by tomorrow it will be a vital issue in the Assembly, both constitutional redistricting and a new form of reapportionment as contained in a constitutional amendment having carried in the upper House. That has been reported, but its importance is so great that reiteration is necessary to make people of the Southland appreciate what is about to happen.

There is every reason to believe enough votes can be mustered to adopt the amendment giving the counties control of the Senate and population control of the Assembly. That, of course, must be approved by the people at the next election. It should be done.

MAIDEN VICTORY

Finally discovering their punch, the Browns swarmed all over Robertson and Cvengros and gained their maiden victory of the season, 11 to 4. The White Sox were the victims.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, April 20.—Fielding H. Yost, in the old hurry-up Yost role which he has not played at Ann Arbor for some seasons, is a stimulating spectacle on the Princeton gridiron these days.

More than 30 years ago Yost played football at Princeton as linesman—and a corking fine one—on the LaFayette eleven. Now he is spending a week in the jungle and is as sprightly and stalwart and strong, at least so it seems, as in the days of yore.

Garbed in football togs, Yost digs into the scrimmage and shows the Tiger backs how they should check and block. This apparently is the one great thing that Bill Roper wanted Yost to show his men and Roper and Stan Keck and Al Wittemer and Jack Winn and the rest of the Princeton coaches saw he has been doing invaluable work in this respect.

Yost, himself, is benefiting from the exercise, and today, as he romped about the gridiron, he might have been mistaken for one of the outstanding candidates for the Tiger team.

"I have been having a great time," said Yost as he paused in his work for a word or two. "The visit has been a delightful one, both socially and athletically. There is a wonderful lot of backfield material here and while I have not paid any attention to line play I think Princeton will have a problem in the fall in getting weight among the forwards.

"The whole scheme of this visit is a novel idea but I think it is a mighty fine one. Intercollegiate friendships are very easy to establish if we all but take the trouble to form them. We are all enlisted in the work of developing young men along the right lines and there is not the slightest reason why those who are working in this field at the various colleges should not meet and exchange ideas and cultivate friendly relations.

"Rivalry on the field of play does not preclude firm friendships on the field and off it. I never knew a player to tackle a man less hard because he liked that man.

"When I finish here William Roper will go to Ann Arbor with me and you may be sure that all Michigan is looking forward to his visit and will do all in its power to make him feel at home."

A very pleasant incident in Yost's eastern visit was luncheon at Lawrenceville, a big eastern prep school lying hidden in a grove of elms and maples half way between Trenton and Princeton.

When Yost was an under graduate at LaFayette he spent some time at this school coaching the football team, which included such potential stars as Doggie Trenchard who came to be a Princeton captain, Cadwallader, later a great Yale guard, Wentz, later of Pennsylvania and other collegiate stars.

MERCHANTS BEAT CLASSY HATTERS

Third Straight Win Turned In By Local Team As Visitors Lose, 5-3

The Glendale Merchants showed the Berry Classy Hats how to play the national pastime yesterday at the local ball park when Manager Bacom's crew defeated the visitors, 5 to 3. Red Conkwright, pitching ace of the Merchants, proved too good for the Hatters, Conkwright getting eleven strikeouts.

The Merchants started the scoring in the second inning when they accounted for one run, and added two more in the third. The Hatters tied the count by scoring two runs in the fourth and another in the fifth, but the Merchants pulled away from them in the last of the fifth with another run, and cinched the game in the sixth.

Nobles, catcher for Glendale, got a triple, double and single in four trips to the plate. Manager Bacom, Harding and Acosta also gathered doubles. Three double plays, Persons to Garcia to Bacom, drew rounds of applause.

EISTEDDFOD SET FOR BIG CONTEST

Director of Glendale's Part Expects 1,500 Entries For Next Week

More than 1500 persons will participate in the Glendale District Eisteddfod contests to be staged in this city for one week, starting next Monday. There are more than 600 grammar school pupils entered in the art division of the Eisteddfod alone. These announcements were made by R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of municipal recreation, at a meeting of the Eisteddfod committee today noon at the Kopper Kettle tearoom, when final plans for the contests were worked out.

In order to get in all the events scheduled for the Eisteddfod, it will be necessary to carry over until Monday night, May 4. On that night drama contests among women's clubs of the district will be held. A full program of events is being compiled and will be ready for publication by tomorrow, Mr. Tucker said.

Members of the Eisteddfod committee will concentrate on selling season tickets at $1 apiece during the coming week. These season tickets entitle the holder to admittance to all ten major events. Single admissions will be 25 cents.

The Eisteddfod committee today voted to become a permanent organization, to meet once a month all during the year, in the interest of art, music and drama. A motion to this effect was offered by Mrs. Roy Ballagh, and was voted unanimously. A. L. Baird presided at the meeting.

'Hit And Run' Autoist Held For Hitting Boy

Ellsworth C. Eckre, 618 West Dryden street, was arrested late yesterday on a charge of failure to stop and render assistance, after he is alleged to have struck down and seriously injured Marion Mendoza, Glendale youth, with his car on Glenwood road near the Burbank city limits.

The boy, who lives with his grandmother at 1843 West Glenoaks boulevard, rear, was riding a bicycle when the Eckre car struck him. He sustained numerous cuts and abrasions and a possible skull fracture, according to Dr. E. R. Clarke, who treated him at the Burbank hospital.

Eckre sped on and failed to stop and help the boy, it is charged. Residents in the neighborhood who saw the accident rushed the youth to the hospital and obtained the number of the machine. When arrested Eckre declared he did not know his car had hit the boy or that Mendoza had been injured. He is at liberty under $2000 property bond.

2 MURDER TRIALS SET IN HANFORD

'Wind Mill' Mystery Coupled With Broderick Killing Now on Calendar

HANFORD, Cal., April 20.—Hanford had two murder trials on the calendar today.

With the four principals involved in the "windmill mystery" death of Lee Camp, young rancher, behind the bars here waiting for arraignment next week, the stage was set for the trial tomorrow of L. A. Kinder, accused of murdering L. A. Broderick. Both Kinder and Broderick were well known Hanford citizens.

Those under arrest charged with Camp's murder were: Mrs. Jennie Laura Brown, foster-mother of Camp, and chief beneficiary in Camp's will, involving an estate valued at from $50,000 to $200,000.

John Henry Tipton, her uncle, so-called "right-hand man" of Mrs. Brown's ranch. Tipton first reported the "fatal accident" when young Camp came to his death on the ranch, apparently from a windmill fall.

Domestic Tragedy

Frederick Mills, ranch foreman, and Robert McCamish, 18, another foster son of Mrs. Brown, who, according to District Attorney McKay, had quarreled with Camp the morning of the latter's death.

The three men were in the county jail while Mrs. Brown, who was ill, was under guard in the county hospital.

According to the complaint against Kinder, he deliberately killed Broderick when the latter went to the Kinder home at the request of Mrs. Kinder.

Kinder stoutly maintained he accidentally shot Broderick after a fight in the Kinder home, where Broderick was alleged to have annoyed Mrs. Kinder.

An important witness in the trial was expected to be Mrs. Blanche Barton Broderick, divorced wife of the dead man. Mrs. Broderick arrived here yesterday from the east.

during the coming century in the Mississippi valley. In 1811 a destructive tremor occurred in the vicinity of New Madrid, Mo.

"Rain fundamentally is responsible for the earthquake," the scientist explained. "The horsepower generated by the million miles of rain that have fallen since the earth was new, has made and remade mountains, formed continents, transformed the seas to plateaus and wrought other geological changes beyond man's comprehension.

Rain Chief Cause

"Rain wearing away the soil and moving great masses of sediment to the margins of oceans is the cause of great changes in the elevation of the earth's surface.

"Earthquakes and volcanoes are merely incidents in the general process of geological evolution. We have earthquakes as the sediments depress the crust, as the crust swells up to form mountains, as the crust is buoyed up under the areas undergoing rapid wearing away and as the crust cools and sinks under worn mountain areas."

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 20.—Progress in the forward movement in stock prices was halted today by profit-taking and professional short-selling, most of which was well absorbed, and in few cases were there any wide breaks in market values. The Bears were unable to make any headway with teh oil stocks. Mixed movements in the motor stocks resulted from the selling of stocks which had come a long way up the line in recent weeks and the buying of other stocks which had not participated in the movement. After extreme gyrations between 86½ and 81 in the first hour, Maxwell "B" was stabilized around 83½, at which price the bulk of sales was made.

Professional traders sold a number of the active industrial stocks in their efforts to "feel for the top" of the present movement. While prices in many of these stocks showed declines of from 3 to 10 points, the volume of sales at the lower prices was comparatively small. The principal efforts of the bears were directed against Cast Iron Pipe, American Sugar, Radio and the St. Paul stocks, which broke to the lowest prices in their history, the common reaching 3½ and the preferred 7¼.

The unwillingness of either professional traders or the outside public to follow stock prices to higher levels was the principal factor in causing the hesitant movement in every department of the market. But there was no general desire to sell at concessions from present prices and offerings decreased at the lower price levels. American Can's strong position held to stimulate the industrial list. United States Steel was inactive and inclined to dullness; Cast Iron Pipe lost 9 points in the early trading, but recovered about a half. Shorts in Radio Corp. succeded in pushing that stock down about 3 points.

Maxwell Motors "A" stock and the Pierce-Arrows made the best record for the motor stocks, the rise in which had apparently reached its conclusion for the time being at least. Rumors of upward adjustments in dividends of Frisco common and Southern Railway led to some buying of these stocks at fractional advances in prices, but these were without effect on the balance of the list. New York Central and Atchison sold slightly higherfl z

Oil stocks were entirely featureless. Prices were mostly lower, but sales fell off to a minimum, and news from the petroleum industry was also colorless.

Stock sales today: 1,256,100 shares; bonds $11,901,000.

PUBLIC NOTICE

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Glendale has heretofore, by Ordinance No. 529, established certain Residential, Industrial and Commercial Districts in the City of Glendale; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to the provisions of Section 2, Article XV of the charter of the City of Glendale, a petition has been filed with the City Clerk of said City by Frank Marek, asking that the Commercial District established by said Ordinance No. 529, be amended and changed so as to include in said Commercial District said property described in said petition and more particularly hereinafter described; and

WHEREAS, said City Clerk has presented said petition to the City Council; and

WHEREAS, before any change can be made in said Commercial District as requested in said petition, it is necessary under said Section 2 of Article XV of the Charter of said City, and said Council has directed that public notice of a hearing upon said petition be given by the City Clerk by one publication in the official newspaper of said City, at least ten days before the time of such hearing.

NOW, THEREFORE, and pursuant to the requirements of said Section 2, Article XV, of the Charter of the City of Glendale, and the direction of said City Council,

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

that at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., of the 30th day of April, 1925, at the Council Chamber in the City of Glendale, a public hearing will be given and had upon said proposed amendment or change of said Commercial District, before the City Council; and FURTHER NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at the hour of 7:30 P. M., of the 27th day of April, 1925 at the Council Chamber in the City of Glendale, a public hearing will be given and had on said proposed amendment or change before the City Planning Commission, when and where all persons having any objections to said amendment or change in said Commercial District may appear before said City Council and said Planning Commission, and present any objection, or objections, which they may have to said proposed amendment or change in said Commercial District. Any person having an interest in any of the frontage of property which will be directly affected by said proposed amendment or change, may file with the City Clerk a written protest or objection to said proposed amendment or change in said Commercial District. Said protest must be filed not later than the hour set for hearing, when all protestants may appear at said hearing, either in person or by counsel, and be heard in support of their protests or objections.

That property described in said petition and sought to be included in said Commercial District is described as follows.

Lots 32 to 38 inclusive, of Tract No. 4243 as recorded in Book 76, Pages 97 and 98 of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California.

The petition above referred to is on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale and is hereby referred to for further particulars.

This notice shall be published once in The Glendale Evening News, the official newspaper of said City, at least ten days before the date of the hearing hereinabove mentioned.

Dated April 20th, 1925.

RAILROADS FIND BIG IMPROVEMENT

Car Loadings, Profits, Both Make Splendid Showing Report Proves

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Railroads have been making a splendid showing both as to car loadings and profits so far this year. But a good many of them have found considerable to worry them, nevertheless. Equipment condition, the surplus of freight cars and the number of locomotives available are comparatively satisfactory. Transportation conditions are excellent and the volume of revenue freight and the number of passengers promises to be unusually high. Fuel costs are not likely to rise and roads are getting more ton miles out of their fuel than ever before.

But they have spent a number of million dollars more for maintenance of way and equipment than in 1924 and they want to spend large additional sums. The way for extensions and their financing is not being made smooth in some sections.

Governor's Veto

The veto by Governor Fuller of Massachusetts of the railroad securities bill which would have allowed savings banks and investment houses to invest up to 10 per cent of their deposits in equipment trust fund brought protests from roads and bankers. It is true issue of securities of many railroads are made to finance additions to lines and equipment. The governor has insisted also that the legislature dispose of his veto at once and not hold action in abeyance until another bill can be drawn.

His action was taken on the ground that equipment trust funds may be issued without entering them on the books of the railroad companies as a liability. He declares their only security for them is the equipment itself. Bankers deplore his attitude because of the position of the New England railroad and say that while St. Paul mortgage bonds are now selling under 50, equipment trust obligations of the road are quoted close to par, showing their safety. Motor buses have been skimming no small part of the cream from both passenger and freight business in New England.

Perplexing Problems

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has some perplexing problems to face. Governor Smith has vetoed the measure extending the time in which the B. & O.'s Staten Island freight division might be electrified. If this could physically be done before January 1, 1926, some railroad men say it would cost from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Then also the Baltimore and Ohio must come to an agreement with the Pennsylvania lines regarding future utilization of the Pennsylvania station here for B. & O. passenger trains or return to the use of ferries. Use of the Pennsylvania terminal was granted when both roads were under federal control. On return of the roads to individual control the agreement was continued up to September 1, 1925.

Railroads in many sections are putting in new and high class passenger trains. The Pennsylvania has announced a de luxe train to St. Louis. The New York Central has followed suit. On April 26, the new Crescent Limited operated by the Pennsylvania, Southern Railway and Louisville and Nashville will go into commission between New York and New Orleans. The Illinois Central is known to be contemplating extension of its line southeastward.

S. P. Removal

The removal of the executive offices of the Southern Pacific to San Francisco, after being in New York for twenty years, was due to aggressive plans for future expansions. The intensive campaigns of the road have resulted in tremendous development of industries and traffic from Portland to San Diego, from Salt Lake City to San Francisco and from New Orleans to Los Angeles as well as in Mexico. The road intends to use effort to add to this business.

U. S. MAY LOSE ITS OBSERVER ABROAD

'Jimmie' Logan, 'Unofficial' Official In Europe, May Take Bank Job

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The United States of America is in a fair way of losing its "unofficial observer." This is a serious thing. Other nations have their envoys extraordinary, their ministers plenipotentiary, their high commissioners and their royal representatives, but no other country in all the world save the United States has an "unofficial observer."

The rumor has persisted in Paris for some time and now it has reached Washington that major "Jimmie" Logan is about to quit his official unofficial duties and become a banker in dear old England. The report is heightened by the fact that Major "Jimmie" has been in Washington these past few days and that he paid a somewhat unheralded visit to the White House which has not been explained. There is extreme reticence on all sides and when Washington is reticent, everybody looks for something to happen.

Major "Jimmie"

Major "Jimmie" is almost too big a man to squeeze himself in the confined quarters of Threadneedle street, and Americans in Paris hold him as "too good a scout" to quit the boulevards for the Strand, but there is no belonged to the Public Service Budget fund. The Public Service department in itself deserves a special report, but at present we will only say that in the month of March it showed receipts of $130,284, while the expenditures were $57,726.

"The impression should not be received, however, from the mere statement of the large amount of money in the treasury, that the city has a large surplus which may be devoted to general city purposes. The money belongs to various funds and can only be expended for the specific purposes which those funds represent.

Bond Funds

"For instance, there are seventeen bond funds, representing the capital accounts which comprise the amounts remaining of the original sums received for the sale of bonds, also the sinking funds in which are placed annually the amounts required to pay interest and retirements. An example is the sum of $652,000 received from the sale of sewer bonds in September, 1924, which amount may only be expended for the cost of sewer construction.

"Another sum of about one-half of the above will be added to this fund in a few days from the sale of additional bonds a short time ago. The General Budget fund, however, is in very satisfactory condition, having on April 1st the sum of $66,142.88 to its credit with a large portion of the 1924 taxes still to be paid in from the second installment. The monthly pay-roll of the city amounted to over fifty thousand dollars.

"Receiving and paying out the money of the city, however, represents not more than one-half of the work of the treasurer's office. There has been expended during the past four years for street improvements in the city of Glendale between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

Chief Expenditure

"This expenditure is represented principally, by bonds issued against the property assessed to pay for the improvements. The bonds are the property of various bond houses and individuals, but the city acting as agent for the bond holders, does all the work of collecting, gratis, the semi-annual installments on these bonds. The bonds are prepared by the city treasurer and in the work of collection it is necessary to prepare and mail to the property owners twice a year over five thousand statements or bills for amounts becoming due. This money is taken in over the counter and turned over to the bond holders.

"When payments become delinquent on these bonds, the bond holder may order the transfer to advertise and sell the property covered by the bond. It has been the custom of the treasurer in all such cases to make every effort to collect the delinquent amounts, before imposing upon the delinquent the added expense of advertising and sale.

"The above is an outline of the duties of the treasurer of the city, presenting to the interested taxpayer a general sketch of the work performed by the incumbent of that office. In conclusion the people are reminded that the business transacted at the city hall, is primarily the business of the taxpayers of the city, and as such, city officials are ready at all times to give to all who may inquire, any details about the city business, which may be asked for.

"In conclusion, I thank the people of Glendale for having six times elected me to serve them.

"J. C. SHERER.

RESTORATION OF PALESTINE TOLD

Rev. J. McComas Answers Question Relative To Future Of Jews

"Will there ever be a restoration of the Jewish nation in Palestine?" was the theme of a discourse by Rev. J. W. McComas at the Seventh-day Adventist church in Eagle Rock, Sunday night. In his answer to this question, Rev. McComas made no argument from present conditions relating to Palestine, but based his conclusions entirely upon statements of the Scripture.

"First," the speaker said, "let us see who is a Jew, in the Scriptural sense. Romans 2:28, 29 answers the question: 'For he is not a Jew which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh; but he is a Jew which is one inwardly, and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God.' When God speaks of a Jew, therefore, he is speaking not of the literal descendants of Abraham, but of one whose heart has been changed. The same thing is stated in Romans 9:6-8, where we read that the seed of Abraham, as God reckons them, are not the literal seed, but those who are born by faith, as Isaac was. 'They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God, but, in Isaac shall thy seed be called.'

"'But,' we are asked, 'did not God make some special promise to the literal Hebrews about going back to Palestine?' Yes, I reply. Here is such a promise recorded in II Chron. 7, beginning at verse 12, we read that God promised King Solomon that when He sent calamity upon His people because of their sins, if they would repent and turn from their evil ways and seek God for pardon, He would restore them to prosperity; for it was His purpose that the temple Solomon had built should stand till the end of time. But verses 19-22 state that if the people should forsake the commandments of God he would 'pluck them up by the roots out of the land which I have given them; and this house which I have sanctified for my name will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverb and a byword among all nations.' The promises made to the literal Jews were on the basis of obedience to God; and this doctrine of the Jews going back to Jerusalem is the doctrine of covering up the truth that these promises were made on conditions.

City Destroyed

"Note also what was said to the Jews by the prophet Jeremiah, chapter 17, verse 20 and onward. There God by the prophet reproved the kings and the people of Judah for not keeping his law, especially the Sabbath commandment. He promised them that if they would obey his law Jerusalem should stand forever; but if they turned from him and profaned his Sabbath, then he would kindle a fire in Jerusalem which would devour the palaces thereof and should not be quenched.' And that is what happened. The Jews did not keep God's law, and their city was destroyed by fire. And the Jews today are not keeping God's commandments and the very people who are saying that the Jews are going to be restored are not keeping the commandments; they are not keeping God's Sabbath.

"Again, in chapter 19 we read that God told Jeremiah to assemble the ancients of the people and of the priests and to take a potter's earthen bottle and say to them that because they had forsaken the Lord he would bring evil upon Jerusalem such as would make the ears of those who heard of it to tingle. He declared that he would make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem and destruction should come upon the people and the city should be made desolate. Note the words of verses 10 and 11: 'Then shalt thou break the bottle in the sight of the men that go with thee, and shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts: even so will I break this people and this city, as one breaketh a potter's vessel, that cannot be made whole again.' If the Jews could now be restored to Jerusalem it would prove that this illustration was of no force and that God had not told the truth.

Prophecy of Ezekiel

"The prophecy of Ezekiel, chapter 21, verses 25 to 27, foretold the final overthrow and extinction of the Jewish kingdom. It says: 'But thou, profane, wicked prince of Israel, whose day is come, when iniquity shall have an end; thus saith the Lord God: Remove the diadem and take off the crown: this shall not be the same: exalt him that is low and abase him that is high. I will overturn, overturn, overturn it, and it shall be no more until He come whose right it is, and I will give it Him.'

"Zedekiah was the last king of Judah, and his wicked reign was terminated by the capture and destruction of the city by the king of Babylon. Three overturnings of the kingdom of Judah were prophesied, and this was the first. Next it passed under the dominion of Medo-Persia, the second overturning; and next under the dominion of Rome; and then, the prophecy says, 'it shall be no more,' until He comes who is the rightful King of Israel, and that is Christ.

Question Answered

"Then what is the purpose of God concerning Israel? This question is answered in Romans 11. The true Israel of God, those who keep the commandments of God and are the followers of Christ, are in this chapter likened to an olive tree. The Gentile world is likened to a wild olive tree and the branches of this wild olive tree may be grafted into the good olive tree by faith and become part of the tree. 'And so all Israel shall be saved,' verse 26.

"The true Israel, the spiritual seed of Abraham, are being gathered out of the world from among all nations and God will bring them to the heavenly Jerusalem, that city for which Abraham looked, as mentioned in Hebrews 11:10. That is the new Jerusalem, a description of which is given in Revelations 21. What the Jews need today is not old Jerusalem, but Jesus."

Rev. McComas will speak Wednesday night on the subject of divine healing.

Dr. Ferris Speaks On 'Print Of The Nail'

Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, pastor of First Presbyterian church, preached yesterday morning on "The Print of the Nail." At night music was given by sixty-five members of the Whitney Boys' chorus. EDUCATOR WANTS SLOW DOWN TRIAL

'Jazz Age' Responsible For Future Emotional Insanity, Freud's Philosophy

MADISON, Wis., April 20.—Girls are standing the strain of the constant revelry of the "jazz age" better than the boys, in the opinion of Professor M. V. O'Shea, psychologist of the University of Wisconsin.

Professor O'Shea maintains that women are less affected because of the greater emotional stability and because they use less liquor and tobacco.

"Our roadhouse type of life; the dangerous Freudian philosophy that teaches unrestraint; lurid motion pictures, the noise of cities—all are joining to produce a nervous instability in youth that borders on and leads directly to emotional insanity," the professor said. "Dorothy Ellingson, the jazz mad girl matricide of San Francisco is a by-product of the age with the brakes let loose."

Robert Preston, Northwestern university student, who committed suicide; Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, he believed, also are symptomatic examples.

Remedy, "Slow Down"

"The only remedy is to slow down," said the professor.

And the individual parent, in the opinion of Professor O'Shea, cannot bring about a transformation from the high speed of life.

It is a social problem, he believes.

"Parental discipline, paddling of childen, exemplary behavior of the fathers and mothers will not alone solve the problem," he continued. "Children will not obey parents.

"It is a problem of the community only. America has raced faster in the last twenty years than ever before. Its people are more high strung than any other nation on the earth. And it is the nation as a whole that must get down to brass tacks and slow down."

RANGE BARGAINS AT ELWOOD SHOP

Slightly Damaged Stoves At Low Prices Offered, Owner Announces

"A fortunate purchase direct from the Occidental factory by the Elwood Gas Appliance Co., 227 East Broadway, of all slightly damaged ranges on hand, makes possible," says Mrs. Elwood, "an event that should be of particular interest to every Glendale housewife and prospective home furnisher.

"These ranges," she said, "are so slightly marred that in many instances the imperfection can scarcely be found. However, the factory has labeled them seconds and seconds they are—the result is, that through this special buy, we can announce a selling event that means dollars and dollars in saving to our patrons. The price tags carry quotations that are from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent less than regular prices."
